Crowds Attempt To Free Reserves In Rouen Barracks

ROUEN, France, Oct. 7 (AP)—Factory workers stormed police lines Friday night in an attempt to free mutinous French troops who refused to go to North Africa.

The workers, some signing the Communist "internationale" came back in increased forces after being repressed earlier in the evening. About 1,500 of them hurling stones and welding sticks charged into the police lines that had encircled the reservist troops inside the barracks.

About 10 police and 10 workers were injured.

Police said they believed the demonstrators were inspired by the Communists who have been waging a campaign for freedom for Morocco and Algeria and the return home of reservists sent to North Africa to fight terrorists.

Republican security guardsmen in steel helmets and black coats who had cordoned off the rich-paneled barracks with hundreds of mutinous troops inside had to turn around and fight with their backs against the barracks wall.

The mob broke through the cordon. But police closed up ranks and managed to push the workers back into Chateaux Square facing the city prison. Then the workers regrouped in adjoining streets and attacked police reinforcements rushing to the barracks.

The mutiny began Thursday night when about 500 young draftees recalled to the colors took rank badges off their officers' shoulders and barricaded themselves in the barracks, refusing to go to North Africa.

Biot squads of the republican security guards surrounded the gray stone barracks. About 120 of the mutineers gave themselves up, but the rest remained inside.

At quitting time Friday night in Rouen factories, several hundred workers marched on the barracks shouting encouragement to the soldiers and obscenities at the police. They hurled rocks at the police cordon, injuring a policeman.

The "jack-booted special police" moved in with tear gas guns and broke up the demonstration after a short but sharp encounter.

Ike Schedules Conference With Secretary Dulles

DENVER, Oct. 8—President Eisenhower moved closer Friday night toward resumption of official business with the announcement that he will confer here next Tuesday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The President asked to see Dulles preparatory to the Oct. 27 Geneva conference of the Big Four foreign ministers. Mr. Eisenhower also was expected to confer here briefly late Saturday or some time Sunday with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Beside medical bulletins continued to chart Mr. Eisenhower's recovery from a heart attack he suffered here Sept. 24. He was described as "refreshed and cheerful" at Fitzsimons Army hospital. His physicians reported "the President's condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications."

Successfully completing the two critical weeks following his coronary thrombosis, the President will be the subject of extensive medical consultation here this weekend as his physicians summarize his recovery to date and make plans for his medical future.

While the White House had nothing definite on the President's schedule beyond the Dulles meeting Tuesday, the pace of business in his hospital room was certain to pick up next week if the findings of the doctors Saturday and Sunday are favorable.

Stevenson Raps Inadequacies Of Farm Programs

GREEN BAY, Wis. Oct. 7 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight the nation's farm problem is a "desperately difficult one," and the present Republican policy of sliding or flexible supports "is not working."

"Instead of eliminating surpluses, as advertised," Stevenson said "it is eliminating farmers, as not advertised. After two or three years of heroics, ballyhoo and unprecedented applause from the Republican press, our past problems are all still with us, just as we Democrats foresaw."

"Export subsidies, import quotas still sharply conflict with our declarations about freer world trade. There is still indefensible discrimination between different commodities, storable and perishable. And the burdensome surpluses are still burdening us. As a result the problem of controls, effective controls, still remains."

In a speech prepared for the Wisconsin state Democratic convention Stevenson added:

"Yet the difficulties that now beset the farmer pose grave problems and also dangerous temptations. It will be tempting to us Democrats to say: 'Return the Democrats and the farm problem will be solved.' (And let me say, parenthetically, thank heaven it is a problem of too much instead of too little as it is in so much of the world where I have been.)"

"Well, let's leave that kind of talk to the Republicans, or such promises, or even more moderate ones, will do us no credit in the eyes of an awakened American farmer."

"The farm problem is a desperately difficult one. It has been made more difficult by the neglect the indifference, the postponement and the slogan-making of these past years. Let us not promise what we cannot perform. Farmers will trust the Democratic party next time but they will not trust it to perform miracles."

Truman Lashes GOP As Party Of Privileged Group

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 7—UP—Former President Harry S. Truman Friday night charged the Eisenhower administration is a "special privilege government, nothing else."

Speaking at a huge "pop" rally in New York City, Mr. Truman attacked the GOP as a "privilege government, nothing else."

He said Democratic and Republican parties represent two conflicting philosophies of government. The GOP, he said, represents a class "which believes it is born to rule." He called them the "special privilege people who believe that the rich should get richer and may be some of that will filter down to those below."

"We don't believe that," he said. "We believe government starts with the people down below."

Mr. Truman said government should be for the benefit and welfare of all the people.

"The government in Washington now is a special privileged government, and nothing else."

The more than 3,000 Democrats jamming a state armory were whooping it up for New York's Gov. Averell Harriman as a potential presidential candidate.

The speakers preceding Mr. Truman made several changes in their prepared speeches "wooing" the former President's support for the governor.

Status Of Negro Trial Witnesses Still Mystery

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—The aftermath of a Mississippi murder trial brought a conflict of newspaper accounts on the status of three Negro witnesses today and the picketing of a Senate subcommittee hearing.

Under a front page headline, "How Dixie Press Fooled Our Cops," the Chicago American challenged a copyrighted story in Daily News.

The Mississippi newspaper reported three Negro witnesses at the trial are captives of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. The American quoted two of the witnesses and the mother of the third as denying they were captives.

The American said the Jackson Daily News story was obtained by a "newspaperman who posed as a police officer." It said the reporter, Bill Spell, flew to Chicago Monday in an airplane of the Mississippi National Guard and that Chicago police identified his pilot as W. J. Chrysler.

Spell said in Jackson that "at no time did I ever represent myself as a police officer." His newspaper said Spell is a member of the National Guard and rode to Chicago on a plane making a scheduled instrument training flight.

The dispute arose from the trial of two white men acquitted of murdering 14-year-old Emmett Till, a Chicago Negro, while he was on a visit to relatives near Money, Miss. They face trial Nov. 7 on charges of kidnapping Till.

The three witnesses who Spell wrote were "being held captive" in the deepest part of Chicago's South Side Negro section are Mrs. Amanda Bradley, Willie Reed and Moses Wright.

Choctaws List Arguments In Claims Court

$2 Million Asked By Indians; U. S. Offers $417,656

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Choctaw Indians of Mississippi contended today before the U. S. Court of Claims the government still owes them millions of acres of land or millions of dollars under a solemn treaty signed back in 1830.

Claimants are descendants of Choctaw who chose to remain behind when the Choctaw Nation, under the treaty, moved westward into what is now Oklahoma.

That treaty—the treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek—promised $40 acres of land to each head of a family remaining in Mississippi and smaller tracts to the children.

The court, after hearing arguments in what has become a 3-sided case, took the matter under advisement. There was no indication when it would reach a decision.

Before the court was a ruling by the Indian Claims Commission earlier this year to the effect that the Mississippi Choctaws are entitled to a judgment of $417,656.

The government, which is opposing the claim, appealed from the commission's ruling. It said the Mississippi Choctaws aren't entitled to sue as a group and they already have been paid under an 1886 award to the Choctaw Nation.

The Mississippi Choctaws, without waiving their rights to the commission's ruling that they are entitled to $417,656, likewise appealed, saying they are due the greater sum of $2,761,252.34 plus interest.

A late entry is the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma which supports the government's position.

Air Crash Investigators Probe Disaster; Bodies Removed

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 7 (AP)—Investigators probed the snow-swept site of the worst commercial airlines disaster in America's history today as rescue teams struggled through deep drifts to retrieve the bodies of the 66 victims.

Meanwhile, United Airlines President W. A. Patterson disclosed that at the time of the crash the plane was 25 miles west of the line established for that flight. Patterson, in a statement from United's Chicago headquarters, said he did not know why the aircraft was off course.

Government and airline officials sifted the wreckage in an effort to determine what caused the United Air Lines DC4 to smash headlong into the top of 12,005-foot Medicine Bow Peak yesterday.

The New York-San Francisco plane crashed on the rugged mountain about 40 miles west of here in southeast Wyoming barely 30 minutes after leaving Denver en route for Salt Lake City. All aboard were killed. The 63 passengers included five women members of the famed Salt Lake City Mormon Tabernacle Choir, which recently concluded an European tour.

United Air Lines officials said the plane was not overloaded. Regulations specify the DC4's may carry up to 64 passengers. The fallen plane, they said, was actually underloaded as the passengers included two infants.

Judge Hears Arguments By Turncoats Who Seek U. S. Civil Court Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7 (AP)—A federal judge heard arguments today on whether three U. S. soldiers who chose to stay in Red China after the Korean armistice are subjects of court martial or should be tried in civil courts.

The three turncoats — Otto Bell, 24, Hillsboro, Miss., L. W. Griggs, 22, Jacksonville, Tex., and William C. Cowart, 22, Dalton, Ga., are charged with collaboration with the enemy.

One of their lawyers, Harold C. Brown, said today the accusations of "ratting" on fellow prisoners to get better treatment actually add up to allegations of transferring allegiance. Viewed as a whole, he said, the actual charge is treason and in his opinion, that can only be tried in civil courts.

This was challenged by Richard H. Foster, assistant U.S. attorney. He said the charge was not treason, but rather misconduct as prisoners of war under articles of the uniform code of military justice. He further said the charges came under Article 104, dealing broadly with aiding an enemy through propaganda action, Article 105, dealing with misconduct as a prisoner, and, additionally in Cowart's case, with Article 82 dealing with efforts to persuade a fellow (Continued on Second Page)

New Confab On Atoms-For-Peace Backed By U. S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—The United States, Britain and Australia today called for a second conference within three years on the use of atomic power for peace.

In a resolution put before the U.N. Assembly's Political Committee, those three powers said continuing international cooperation in developing and expanding the peaceful uses of atomic energy is essential for the benefit of mankind. They reported widespread satisfaction with the first conference held in Geneva last August.

In a separate resolution, India, Yugoslavia and Burma also proposed another conference but suggested it be held at an "appropriate" date.

As the committee debate opened, Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), U.S. delegate in the Assembly, disclosed the Soviet Union has replied to American proposals for an international atoms-for-peace agency. He said the reply would be considered carefully.

The Russians have promised to contribute atomic materials to a peaceful pool but have withheld agreement on joining the scheme which first was put before the U.N. by President Eisenhower on Dec. 8, 1953.

Pastore predicted an agreement on the international agency would be reached early next year. American sources said they expected the agency to be operating by the end of 1956.

Some small and medium countries, especially from Asia, were dissatisfied with the proposed statute sent out by the United States in August. These countries were said to feel the big powers were given too much authority.

Pinay Announces Full Support Of Faure On Africa

PARIS, Oct. 7—UP—Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay sacrificed his own hopes for the French premiership Friday to make a last-ditch effort to rescue Premier Edgar Faure from threatened downfall.

Informed sources said Pinay warned rightwing deputies he would refuse a call to become premier if the national assembly upsets Faure in the debate on French Morocco.

The foreign minister was one of the few candidates considered capable of forming a post-Faure government without a costly interval of crisis.

But Pinay, the 63-year-old businessman who stopped inflation as premier in 1952, spurned the bait and busily tried to rally members of his straying independent party back behind Faure in the crucial debate.

While Pinay fought for him, Faure himself desperately played for time and assembly votes to save his crumbling government.

He sent off his new defense minister, Gen. Pierre Billotte, on a quick "inspection tour" of the fighting front in Morocco, where rebels were besieging French army posts.

Billotte, 49, was appointed Thursday after Gen. Pierre Koenig, longtime opponent of Faure's Morocco reforms, quit along with three other Gaullist cabinet members.

The dispatch of Billotte was a bid to win support, or at least neutrality, from the powerful Socialists in the likely event of a confidence vote by Monday. The Socialists, with 105 votes in the assembly, have been threatening to torpedo Faure in the vote.

Garrison Pinned Down By Rebels For Almost Week

FEZ, Morocco, Oct. 7—UP—Tanks of the French Foreign Legion blasted through encircling Riff rebels Friday to raise the siege of the "little Dien Bien Phu" fortress of Tizi Ouzli.

As the tanks rumbled into the little mountain top fortress Vampire jet fighter planes and 105-millimeter recoilless rifles chased the rebels back into the scrub pine hills.

Horse cries of "vive la France, vive la Legion Etrangere" (long live France, long live the Foreign Legion) went up from the 100 exhausted Moroccan Goum infantrymen who had moved up to relieve Tizi Ouzli when it was first attacked a week ago. They had remained inside the fortress which had been besieged on and off ever since.

The Foreign Legion forces shot their way past the mile-high peak of the DazrouaAskhar, infested with rebel snipers, to reach the fortress 22 miles from the vital French operational base at Aknoul.

Tizi Ouzli dominates rock-strewn Kert Valley which has the only passes in the region from Spanish Morocco stretching five miles to the north.

Other well-armed rebels were hammering at Boured, which with Aknoul and Tizi Ouzli form a defense triangle in the wild Riff mountains along the Spanish-Moroccan border.

Guerrilla warfare was spreading, and women and children were evacuated from the U. S. radar post at Saida to Camp Sidi Slimane. Saida lies on the Mediterranean coast 30 miles north of Oujda on the Spanish-Moroccan border. Terrorists have been operating in the Oujda area, slashing telephone lines.

True to the predictions of experts on hypnosis, the 19-year-old brunette student sat as if glued to her chair. She was unable to break the "post-hypnotic" suggestion.

After Ellen put her in trance, he told her "you will not be able to reach the money. Your knees, and muscles will not move. You cannot get off the chair."

Then he touched her eyelids and told her to open her eyes. Master of ceremonies Jack Bailey told the college girl she had 20 seconds to leave her chair and pick up the $100,000 that was placed on a tray on a table.

Miss Morris bit her lips and appeared to be trying very hard to move. But she did not stir from the chair during the 20 seconds.

The hypnotist then clapped his hands, breaking the spell. Pat stood up and smiled. But when she realized her moment had passed, she grimaced.

Ellen told her that she would "not suffer any uneasiness" as the result of the experiment. He assured her "millions of other girls" would have acted the same way under hypnotic suggestion.

But Miss Morris then was told by Bailey that she would receive a consolation prize of $1,000 and a new automobile. She grinned and almost jumped up and down with joy.

New Confab On Atoms-For-Peace Backed By U. S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 7 (UP)—The United States, Britain and Australia today called for a second conference within three years on the use of atomic power for peace.

In a resolution put before the U.N. Pinay Announces Full Support Of Faure On Africa

PARIS, Oct. 7—UP—Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay sacrificed his own hopes for the French premiership Friday to make a last-ditch effort to rescue Premier Edgar Faure from threatened downfall.

Informed sources said Pinay would refuse a call to become premier if the national assembly upsets Faure in the debate on French Morocco.

The foreign minister was one of the few candidates considered capable of forming a post-Faure government without a costly interval of crisis.

But Pinay, the 63-year-old businessman who stopped inflation as premier in 1952, spurned the bait and busily tried to rally members of his straying independent party back behind Faure in the crucial debate.

While Pinay fought for him, Faure himself desperately played for time and assembly votes to save his crumbling government.

He sent off his new defense minister, Gen. Pierre Billotte, on a quick "inspection tour" of the fighting front in Morocco, where rebels were besieging French army posts.

Billotte, 49, was appointed Thursday after Gen. Pierre Koenig, long-time opponent of Faure's Morocco reforms, quit along with three other Gaullist cabinet members.

The dispatch of Billotte was a bid to win support, or at least neutrality, from the powerful Socialists in the likely event of a confidence vote by Monday. The Socialists, with 105 votes in the assembly, have been threatening to torpedo Faure in the vote.

11 Airmen Safe After Gulf Crash

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 7 (UP)—A disabled Navy plane with 11 men aboard landed early today in Gulf of Mexico waters made choppy and hazardous by a norther. All hands were rescued by two Coast Guard vessels.

The amphibious craft landed in the Gulf of Boca Chita, which is about four or five miles north of the mouth of the Rio Grande.

The plane's mission was not disclosed.

Lt. P. M. Hilderbrand of the search and rescue crew said the 11 men aboard got into two lifeboats after successfully landing the disabled plane and failing in an effort to taxi it to Brownsville.

After being abandoned the plane finally beached itself about seven miles south of the Brownsville jeties.

Crossword Puzzle Jackpot Moves Up To $350 In Value; No Winners This Week

By BONANZA BILL

The Morning World crossword puzzle jackpot moved into the $350 category after contestants this week failed to come through with the right combination for a solution worth $325.

Old Bonanza Bill's hoping that someone will come up with the correct answers soon. Meanwhile, here is an explanation of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzle:

CLUES ACROSS:

3. COULD is best Work is something that one must "do" making the difference between the words "could" and "would" very clear. The junior WOULD hardly be expected even to TACKLE the work if he DID tackle it, he COULD hardly be expected to do it all.

6. CAPERS is a surer answer. "Kiddies" suggests the younger children, who, generally will be amused by comic CAPERS, regardless of their age. Many, however, will be TOO YOUNG TO READ comics.

10. DOVE is best. You could get a photograph of a DOVE but it (Continued on Second Page)

But she is a fighting ship, the sixth to bear the name. The Navy soft-pedals reference to her armament 14 5-inch guns automatically aimed and fired by radar; her aircraft, 100 or more; and her speed, officially "in excess of 30 knots" but more like 35.

No mention is made, either, of the ability of an aircraft carrier ship such as the Saratoga to pass through radioactive ashes or dust from nuclear explosions.

The first Saratoga, of 150 tons, built 175 years ago, could be carried on this ship's four-acre flight deck. So too could today's passenger liners "America" and "United States," side by side.

The Saratoga of World War II fame was half the size of this one. She survived two torpedoings and one of the most savage bomb and plane attacks of the war, finally going to her death as a target in the Bikini atom bomb test.

The Saratoga will be commissioned next April after completion of interior and superstructure work. Like the Forrestal her predecessor, she will be replaced with heavier materials after finishing her shakedown cruise. The Navy decided this summer that new lightweight alloys used for the shaftings should be replaced, but the two big carriers were too far along in construction for the changes to be made at that time.

The Political Lineup So Far

Fourteen State, 14 Local Candidates File For Races

By EZRA ADAMS
Staff Writer

Fourteen persons to date have qualified with the state Democratic Central committee in the race to fill nine elective offices in the Louisiana state government, according to Jesse L. Webb, Sr., secretary of the state committee.

Another fourteen announced candidates have qualified for local offices in Ouachita parish and the 30th senatorial district. C. C. Bell, Jr., and Hurl W. Sperry, chairman of the 30th district and Ouachita parish Democratic committees, respectively, said last night.

In the governor's race, only Earl K. Long and James McElmore qualified, leaving four others announced but not qualified: DeLesseps (Chap) Morrison, mayor of New Orleans; Fred Preaus, of Farmville and chairman of the state highway board; Francis Grevenberg, head of the state police; and Rufus Fontenot, director of state revenue.

Qualifying for the lieutenant governor campaign were C. E. (Cap) Barham and Lether Frazier, with A. Brown Moore, New Orleans councilman, announced but not qualified.

Wade O. Martin, incumbent, has qualified for reelection to the secretary of state post and so far is uncontested.

For state superintendent of education, Shelby M. Jackson has qualified and faces a possible opponent if Mrs. J. H. Stringer, past president of the state Parent-Teacher Association, qualified.

Four persons have announced and three have qualified for state auditor. They are incumbent Allison Kolb, William J. (Bill) Dodd and E. L. Williams, of Shreveport. One, Douglas Fowler, has said he intends to qualify.

Incumbent Fred LeBlanc, attorney general, so far is the only one to qualify for that office in the coming elections. Earl J. Amodee, a New Orleans Negro attorney,

The telegram continued: "This high-handed action apparently is the company's irresponsible answer to the need for negotiation or arbitration to settle the dispute. It completely disregards the security, the welfare and the needs of the company's employees, and of the entire community."

"That you would be a party to this is an affront to the office of governor of Indiana."

It has been pointed out that New Castle is not under martial law and a battalion of Guardsmen on the scene have questionable authority either to keep the foundry closed or to bar union members and sympathizers from the area.

However, a union spokesman said he didn't expect any demonstrations Monday.

has announced his intentions to enter the race on a platform to uphold the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling on integration.

Dave Pearce, incumbent, has announced for re-election, but as yet has not qualified with the committee. He will be opposed by Leon Mitchell and Sidney McCrory, both of whom have qualified.

Lucille Mae Grace has announced and qualified as a candidate for reelection to the office of registrar of state land. So far, she is unopposed.

A. P. Tugwell, also, has qualified to run for reelection to the office he holds, that of state treasurer. He, too, is yet unopposed.

In the 30th senatorial district, only one person has qualified for campaign candidacy to the office of state senator. He is James D. Sparks, of Monroe, who is currently serving as state senator.

Qualified Ouachita parish office candidates for election in the January Democratic primary are: Clerk of Court — R. Dean Parr; Tax Assessor — Bert Coverdale; Sheriff — Bailey Grant.

Coroner — Dr. J. T. French. State Representative (two office vacancies) — Lea S. Thompson; Gilbert Faulk and Shady Wall.

Police Jury—Ward Five, Tom Hicks and Percy W. Nichols; Ward One, Fletcher G. Studdard; Ward Three, Rankin W. Earle; Ward 10, A. E. Montgomery.

Constable—Ward Nine, W. T. Wink.

In addition to these offices, 100 members are to be elected to the State Democratic Central Committee, Webb said, as well as members of the parish executive committee.

Candidates for state senator have until 5 p.m. October 14 to qualify.

Twelve o'clock noon on October 17 is the deadline for qualifying for state representative and other local offices.

12. CAFE is preferred since the phrase: "lock UP" is more apt to PREMISES. One "locks up" a CAFE and simply "locks" a SAFE.

13. CAST is the surer answer. CAST refers to the theatre and when a producer adds a "lot of extras" to the CAST the CAST obviously becomes greater. COST is not as positive an answer since in many cases the extras might have no intrinsic value, such as extra notes in a musical composition or words in a story, in which case the COST would not be great.

14. The skill of an expert skater, or hockey player, on a RINK is CERTAINLY pleasing and the audience looks for this. Without skill they would please nobody. Where the RING is concerned great numbers of people today are not interested in the finer points of boxing. They want action - be it skill or just straight slugging.

11. SCARS attract attention "to a person". A vivid SCARF attracts attention to the SCARF. Also, while SCARS must have an owner, the SCARF may be, say in a store window.

15. HEAR is a good answer. People simply do NOT FEAR thunder. Though they may feel frightened when they HEAR it, they realize it is completely harmless, and are FRIGHTENED BY it, not AFRAID of it knowing that lightning is the damaging element.

Incidentally in a letter to her husband, Mrs. James stated that Hobbs had not had a drop of rain for five years until this week - now the town is flooded!

Talking about rains, the weather bureau reports for the past few days has indicated thundershowers in the late afternoon. This information has caused many to carry their umbrellas to work, just to be prepared. Among the number was observed Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Sr.

As a possible aid in writing that letter to a relative or friend, during this letter writing week, the Monroe postal officials have placed an easy chair and a temporary writing desk supplied with some needed stationery in the lobby. This is a lure for those who need aid in getting a letter started.

sought to enter the case after the Indian Claims Commission handed down its ruling. The commission refused their plea to intervene so the Oklahoma tribe appealed.

The case is involved and complicated. Back in 1830 the Choctaws—then living in the south, chiefly in Mississippi—signed a treaty with the government, agreeing to move westward. But the treaty provided those who remained in Mississippi were entitled to land.

The Mississippi Choctaws say that the government agents at that time breached the treaty by refusing to enroll those who wished to stay behind and that few of the Indians, if any, received any land.

In 1842 the government issued land scrip (certificates) to those entitled to land, but withheld half of the scrip in an effort to induce the Mississippi Indians to move west. Subsequently scrip was issued for a total of 1,399,920 acres.

The Mississippi group argues it never received this land nor the money value of the land—placed at $1.85 an acre.

However, the government said—and the Oklahoma Choctaws supported the position—that the government in 1886 paid the Choctaw Nation $2,981,247.30 in settlement of its claims under the 1830 treaty.

The government and the Oklahoma Choctaw Nation said the payments specifically included the sum of $417,656 to meet the claims of 191 heads of families who remained in Mississippi and that this money was paid to the Mississippi Choctaws.

Further, both the government and the Oklahoma Choctaws contend the Mississippians are not entitled to bring suit under a 1946 act of Congress since they are not a tribe but are individuals.

The Mississippi Choctaws take the opposite view—that they are a separate group since they were specifically provided for under the 1830 treaty, that the 1886 settlement did not include them, that they got none of the money then paid and that they are entitled to the full $2,761,252.34 plus interest.

The Oklahoma Choctaws admit their opposition is based to some extent on a fear that if the Mississippi Choctaws win their case the government will pay the claim with funds which it holds for the Oklahoma Choctaw Indian Nation.

Robert C. Handwerk, Washington, representing the Mississippi-

ans, said the government is obligated to pay whatever claim is allowed—if one is allowed—since it had the obligation under the 1830 treaty to give the Indians the land and never had done so. However, he added, it wouldn't greatly matter to the Mississippi group whether the Oklahoma tribe or the government paid the claim.

W. F. Semple, Tulsa, representing the Choctaw Nation, told the court that if the Oklahoma tribe had been allowed to enter the case it could have proved by records that Mississippians were paid out of the nearly three million dollars received in 1886.

Brown told the court "nobody has sympathy for a tattletale" but that it was not illegal under the Geneva convention for prisoner of war to go to their captors for self protection. Foster had recited incidents in which the trio allegedly had informed on fellow prisoners who threatened to beat them up.

The arguments continued into the afternoon. The defense is seeking a writ of prohibition to have the cases transferred to civil court.

Choctaws List

sought to enter the case after the Indian Claims Commission handed down its ruling. The commission refused their plea to intervene so the Oklahoma tribe appealed.

The case is involved and complicated. Back in 1830 the Choctaws—then living in the south, chiefly in Mississippi—signed a treaty with the government, agreeing to move westward. But the treaty provided those who remained in Mississippi were entitled to land.

The Mississippi Choctaws say that the government agents at that time breached the treaty by refusing to enroll those who wished to stay behind and that few of the Indians, if any, received any land.

In 1842 the government issued land scrip (certificates) to those entitled to land, but withheld half of the scrip in an effort to induce the Mississippi Indians to move west. Subsequently scrip was issued for a total of 1,399,920 acres.

The Mississippi group argues it never received this land nor the money value of the land—placed at $1.85 an acre.

However, the government said—and the Oklahoma Choctaws supports the position—that the government in 1886 paid the Choctaw Nation $2,961,247.30 in settlement of its claims under the 1830 treaty.

The government and the Oklahoma Choctaw Nation said the payments specifically included the sum of $417,656 to meet the claims of 191 heads of families who remained in Mississippi and that this money was paid to the Mississippi Choctaws.

Further, both the government and the Oklahoma Choctaws contend the Mississippians are not entitled to bring suit under a 1946 act of Congress since they are not a tribe but are individuals.

The Mississippi Choctaws take the opposite view—that they are a separate group since they were specifically provided for under the 1830 treaty, that the 1886 settlement did not include them, that they got none of the money then paid and that they are entitled to the full $2,761,252.34 plus interest.

The Oklahoma Choctaws admit their opposition is based to some extent on a fear that if the Mississippi Choctaws win their case the government will pay the claim with funds which it holds for the Oklahoma Choctaw Indian Nation.

Robert C. Handwerk, Washington, representing the Mississippi-

ans, said the government is obligated to pay whatever claim is allowed—if one is allowed—since it had the obligation under the 1830 treaty to give the Indians the land and never had done so. However, he added, it wouldn't greatly matter to the Mississippi group whether the Oklahoma tribe or the government paid the claim.

W. F. Semple, Tulsa, representing the Choctaw Nation, told the court that if the Oklahoma tribe had been allowed to enter the case it could have proved by records that Mississippians were paid out of the nearly three million dollars received in 1886.

Edna Bishop To Seek Re-Election

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Oct. 7.—(Special)—Announcement was made today by Edna Bishop, East Carroll parish clerk of court, that she would seek re-election.

Her formal announcement is as follows:

"I am seeking re-election solely on the basis of my past administration of the office of Clerk of Court. I have had 11 years of experience in the office of Clerk of Court; seven and one half of those years as Deputy Clerk and the past three and one half years as clerk. This experience has given me valuable knowledge to the manner in which the affairs of the office can be most efficiently administered to the benefit of the public as a whole. I am proud of my record as Clerk of Court and ask the voters of East Carroll Parish to consider my candidacy for re-election as clerk on the basis of proven ability, efficiency, honesty and cooperation. I have and always will operate the office of clerk of court in such a manner that those needing its facilities will be treated kindly, courteously and without favoritism. The integrity and security of the public records of this parish are highly important to each resident thereof; especially is it important and essential to the property owners that those records be faithfully and correctly prepared and maintained. This I have done throughout my entire tenure of office and if re-elected I promise that the office of clerk of court will be maintained in the same faithful tradition.

"I have and shall devote the entirety of my time to the duties and responsibilities of the office."

The CIO Armed Revolt In America

Evidence piles up every day that the Congress of Industrial Organization under the leadership of Walter Reuther is out to seize complete power in America and establish a labor-fascist dictatorship.

Its methods are becoming clear as its strategy unfolds.

It is shortly scheduled to swallow the American Federation of Labor, under guise of a merger, that, as far as many well informed persons can see, will leave Reuther the bull of the woods, the kingpin, the supreme political boss; and at the same time possibly black out and nullify the many fine and worthwhile achievements of the Federation, that have earned the respect and confidence of employees and employers great and small, on the basis of craft unions skillfully managed and able to make money not only for themselves but for those who meet their payrolls.

Reuther today holds the Democratic party, nationally speaking, in the hollow of his hands; and this situation has prevailed ever since Franklin D. Roosevelt delivered his historic message at a Chicago convention, "Clear it with Sidney."

Everything nationally in the Democratic party, since then, has been "cleared with Sidney," and no candidate for the Democratic nomination for President—a once proud honor by a once great party—stands a ghost of a chance to win the nod without Reuther's specific endorsement.

The CIO has the national Democratic party as its captive and slave, like a galleyman chained to the oars; but its vaulting ambition encompasses Caesar-like shortcuts to power.

It is engaging in armed rebellion against the people and the government of the United States, and numerous States and communities; boldly and deliberately flaunting, challenging, insulting, ignoring, trampling upon and mocking and spitting upon the people and their right, daring even the National Guard in such battle-grounds as Indiana to prevent its mobsters and heavily armed goons, recruited from many states and districts, to preserve order and safeguard the lives of the people against its recruited insurrections.

It has fostered these terroristic enterprises for years, and due to the coward of authorities in heavily industrialized areas of the North and East, it has murdered and plundered and pillaged almost to its heart's content, and set itself up as a Fascist power superior to all law, all order, all human and constitutional rights.

Recently it invaded the South, and at such places as Gramercy in Louisiana beat up and maimed innocent pilgrims passing by a strike-bound sugar-plant; but due to fearless peace officers and indomitable district judges its reign of terror there was short-lived and the perpetrators languish in jail.

Yet in the Southern Bell Telephone Company strike, embracing a number of Southern states, saboteurs were active with guns and dynamite, blasting hundreds of installations, systematically destroying property and also taking or endangering human life; and at times vast mobs ganged illegally before telephone exchanges, forcing them to close and cripple vital services to the people—giving the South a good dosage of the goonism and fascist violence that has earmarked the CIO throughout its history.

At New Castle, Indiana, a small isolated manufacturing plant, producing a piston ring, has been struck by the CIO. It never employed more than 300 men, and many of these today are not in sympathy with the CIO-Reuther ordered strike. It is a foundry, the Perfect Circle Corporation.

Its members, if dissatisfied, had the right peaceably to strike; and, if satisfied, to remain at their jobs.

Yet a howling mob of CIO goons descended upon the plant, admittedly recruited not merely from the district but from several different states, and attempted to wreck it and destroy those who chose to work, in pursuance of their constitutional right; and in the resulting battle eight men were shot and wounded.

The CIO-minded governor of Indiana, out fishing off the coast of Florida, ordered out the National Guard; but at the same time illegally ordered all work at the plant stopped. He is George N. Craig.

The arrogant, sneering CIO international representative William F. Caldwell told Mayor Paul F. McCormack of New Castle:

"I do not control, and admittedly so, the feelings of workers throughout Indiana and Kentucky, and throughout the United States . . . I cannot insure the actions of other people . . . Mr. McCormack, I could not assure what would happen . . . The outside sentiment if you reopen this plant may cause us all trouble. I can't govern it."

What this fat-jowled CIO labor boss said in effect was this: The CIO is a law to itself, and neither the State of Indiana nor the City of New Castle dare to let the Perfect Circle Corporation operate in pursuance to its legal and organic rights; and that any such attempt at legality will be crushed by the recruited CIO armies ganged together to overawe and intimidate the state and the city and the people.

This, of course, is sheer fascism, the campaign of a private army organized and led by Reuther, who apparently is intent on seizing supreme power and in the meantime bolsters his power by unconstitutional and illegal means.

Recently, over a tragic incident involving a Mississippi Negro youth and two white men, we had a million words of denunciation leveled by the Northern and Midwestern press against the South.

In this current, monstrous, thoroughly frightening demonstration of armed power by Reuther's CIO private army, which has intimidated not only the city of New Castle but also the State of Indiana, and many other states, where are the thundering voices of the Pulitzer Prize winners? Who denounces and condemns? Who sees in this seizure and abrogation of private rights by CIO goons a threat to liberty? Who among the many defenders of the poor lone, lorne, long-suffering American Communist "pilloried" by a patriotic Senate investigating committee opens his mouth against humble Perfect Circle Workers shot in their own plant by the sympathizers of the CIO?

Their voices stutter, and they mumble under their breath, but they do not speak out.

Without Reason

Mr. Gerard J. Tobin of Brooklyn, criticizing an article I wrote on the Landy case, makes this point:

"However, it is more likely that Landy is under a cloud, not for the conduct of his mother so much as for his association with her."

Precisely how would Mr. Tobin arrange this world so that a son does not have associations with his mother? After all, he is born of her body; she nurses him in his infancy; she rears him through childhood; she loves him everlastingly. As Mr. Tobin's letter appears in "The Tablet," which, I am convinced, the best Roman Catholic newspaper in this country, I assume that he is a Catholic—a religion which particularly stresses the role of motherhood. How can he possibly hold that a son should renounce his mother for whatever reason? Were she a drunkard, lying in the gutter, should he spit upon her? Were she a trollop, should he not protect her?

Landy has gained his commission in the Navy and full investigation has cleared him of any relationship to subversion, but I am sure that the moral of this tale is more important than any of the individuals in it. For the moral is that a child owes an obligation to his parents that is moral and transcends politics and that in our civilization the errors of the parents, in the eyes of the law, must not be passed on to the children for punishment.

The point that Mr. Tobin misses is an essential of his faith, which apparently he does not permit to influence his thinking. Those who believe that man is endowed with free will must accept the corollary that there is a distinction between voluntary and involuntary association. The relations between parent and child are involuntary. They are ordained by the laws of nature. The child does not, of his own will, select his parents; he is born of them as a result of a normal biologic act, procreation, and their mutual relationship is ordained by the natural law. Beethoven did not choose his alcoholic father any more than Abraham Lincoln chose his mother.

It is different with voluntary association. Five boys go to college, one joins a football team; another the Newman Society; another the Hillel club; another the debating team; another the Young Communist League. These are voluntary actions; they are expressions of free will. No one in this country can force a young man to become a part of any of these organizations and what they represent. If later in life the person regrets the step he took as a youth, he should speak up, but if he persists in his associations, the inference would be fair that he prefers these associations, that they are meaningful for him, that he is prepared to defend them.

In the United States, where the Communist Party and its manifestations are now illegal, the young man who joined the Young Communist League is in peril because he voluntarily is guilty of unlawful associations tantamount to a conspiracy. If he argues that when he joined, the Communists were not engaged in illegal activities under the law, it can still be held that he should have discovered that they were engaged in a conspiracy against his country and that he associated with conspirators. He attended meetings and knows what occurred at them.

But that does not mean that his brother or sister, or his wife and children are equally culpable. Shall we say to Earl Browder's children: "Do you love and respect your father?" And if they answer, "Yes," shall we exclude them from our society despite the clear injunction of the Ten Commandments? Is there a limiting phrase in the Ten Commandments which stipulates the conditions under which a child shall honor his father and his mother? If there are such limitations, what are they? Surely it is not part of the Judeo-Christian faiths that the morality of the Bible is to be ignored for political reasons.

I fear that many ardent anti-Communists betray themselves when they fail to recognize that we cannot renounce our own moral system in order to fight amoral Marxism. In fact, some of them would adopt Stalinist methods which even the Communists are abandoning. There is no strength in such limitations. They can only break down our society by destroying its virtues.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Mental Health

We are becoming very conscious of mental health in children these days — and it's a good thing too. But those two words often have a shade of sinister meaning to fathers and mothers. We have not yet lost our fear of disorders of the mind, and any suggestion of mental care in that field still frightens some people. There need be no such dread. Caring for the mental health of children can be as simple as caring for the physical health. Maybe easier.

When a mother stops on her way through the house to pick up a small child, give him a hug and a kiss and say "You're a dear child and I love you," she has given that child a big lift toward sound mental health. Just to know day by day that he is loved is tonic to the mind and heart of any child, young and not so young.

When a boy or girl brings home a sad report card and feels simply defeated by it, his mind is depressed. This is the time for a word of sympathetic understanding, not of the low accomplishment but of the low feeling in the child's mind. That must be lifted from him. He must be helped to feel that he still has a chance to succeed and win approval. "Cheer up. You're not lost yet. You will do better this month. By and by we'll try to find what's wrong and mend it. We still like you a lot. Go wash up now. There's gingerbread with applesauce for dessert."

Assurance in time of trouble, assurance of affection no matter what happens, assurance of help, of faith and trust — these are preventive medicine that any parent can administer to insure a sound mental attitude in a child.

Acceptance is a powerful mental tonic. All fathers and mothers picture their children as very important people, successful and admired by all who meet them. Most children, like the rest of us, are ordinary and not likely to be star performers. Should parents try to drive a child beyond his power of accomplishment, show angry disappointment when he fails to reach their standard, they depress that child and lower his health and mind and body. When they accept him as he is, assure him that they are delighted with him as long as he does his best, he will rise to his full power and exceed himself. And he will be happy.

Happiness is one of the chief ingredients of sound mental health. A happy child is a good child, and a good child will develop his best self in an atmosphere of affection and approval surrounds him.

The establishment and preservation of mental health in children is just a matter of common sense. That need frighten nobody.

You should never tease a bashful child. Dr. Patri discusses why children are bashful and tells what to do about it in his leaflet P-8.

"Giant" (his last film) James Dean, who was killed while speeding is named Jet. . . . Play the chune "Seventeen" and then "My Boy, Flat-Top" and see if you can tell the difference. . . . H. Tattell's line on a starlet: "A gal seen in more night clubs than movies." . . . They say the Sinatra-Brando feud is real — not puffery. . . . Fred Waring's "Heard! Heard!" (at the Ziegfeld) is music that stays in the heart. . . . Migodness! How fat can you get? Jackie Gleason went through the menu at Cafe Chambord. . . . "During the run of the movie, 'Oklahoma' at the Rivoli, the sale of popcorn will be banned." (Snobs).

IN WASHINGTON

Bureaucrats On The Run

Because this is a National Newspaper Week, an old Washington hand may perhaps be pardoned for reviewing some of the changes which have occurred in covering Washington for forty years and for attempting to estimate what the effect has been on the flow of information to the American people about their government.

That experience goes back to the days when the U. S. newspaper standard of all the news that's fit to print was accepted and approved by those in government who furnished it as well as by those who printed it. The public's interest in Washington news is clearly defined. Readers have never had to protest that news of their national affairs was being withheld, because newspapers and newspaper correspondents made sure that it was not.

Three wars and their aftermaths have brought a change. During World War I, George Creel set up the first news censorship and found the experience something like trying to break a horse to the saddle. But the war didn't last long, seasoned writers were soon back on the job, enjoying the same confidence with government officials they had known before.

The wartime decision to keep secret anything which might be of value to the enemy had its after effect. Government employees had been told they must not talk to newspapermen, had accepted without question directives to keep certain information restricted and in some instances they continued to do so.

The wall of government secrecy had to be breached by newspaper reporters to expose first suspicious facts in the Teapot Dome scandal in 1923. Not until the Senate investigating committee headed by Senator Thomas F. Walsh (Dem.-Mont.) took a hand was government secrecy penetrated sufficiently for the whole distorted story to be heard. Newspapermen worked with Senator Walsh all the way.

Government press agents made their appearance in droves with the New Deal, and vied with one another for a time in the amount of information they labeled out to the press. Perhaps they dulled the repertorial instinct of the Washington press corps as has been charged, but there were so many sources of information that a reporter of average diligence could usually get the facts he was after. Then came another war, and again the broad stream of news threatened to become a mere trickle.

The newspaper business during World War II demonstrated that it could keep its own house in order . . . first by setting up its own Office of Censorship, headed by the able Byron Price, and second by handling the vast flood of wartime news in reportorial style through the Office of War Information.

The aftermath wasn't too bad either, for the government department had public relations men who had newspaper backgrounds and were inclined to be cooperative. But things began to deteriorate, even before the Korean war. The armed services had learned that by stamping anything "Secret," "Top Secret," or "Confidential" they could shut off top-brass' might not want to answer, regardless of whether it be something to which the public was entitled as news.

Soon the civilian agencies took the cue. Individual protests were often unavailing. Newspapermen who in the old days would have simply moved on to the next higher official found themselves referred to minor bureaucrats, who decided what was news and whether it should be made public.

The reading public has heard little about the battle which has been quietly going on here for the last few years against closed congressional hearings, against labeling of information having no strategic value as "top secret," against a spreading determination on the part of some bureaucrats to decide what the public had a right to know.

That is understandable. Newspapers often fight the public's battles, don't expect the public to fight theirs. Congress has taken an interest in attempts to conceal information on operations of government, though it still has some abuses of its own to correct in the same regard.

Washington newspapermen understand that this is the fight they can't lose, because the American public would be the greatest loser. It is not against any political party or any administration. It is a fight to prevent the government from growing bigger than the people it serves.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Wealthy widows and widowers are often in more danger when seeking a second marriage for they may be the prey of gold diggers and fortune hunters. So a Scientific Dating Bureau would be their best protection. I'll guarantee suitable mates to the first ten who furnish the $100,000 necessary for this Bureau.

Case P-360: Helen R., aged 43, has been widowed for two years. "She is a very attractive woman," her attorney informed me at luncheon recently.

"And her husband left her over half a million dollars in government bonds and gilt edged securities."

"She is so lonely she is growing neurotic. Several fortune hunters have been trying to marry her, but I know they are primarily interested in her money."

"She is a lovely, cultured woman who would make a wonderful wife, but she hasn't found a suitable man."

"Dr. Crane, keep her in mind, won't you, when you get a letter from some professional man?"

What we need in this country is a Scientific Dating Bureau, incorporated not for profit, to help put eligible people in touch with desirable members of the opposite sex.

It would thus be a great boon not only to teen-agers but to school teachers, nurses, private secretaries, and all classes of fine men in the late twenties, thirties, and upward.

Furthermore, there are literally millions of widows and widowers whose lonely present life would be much happier if they were married again.

"But how can we find a mate?" is the heart cry of those millions. Oh, they can find jobs, for we have scientific employment agencies to put worker and employer together.

We even have mail order firms to offer a wide range of merchandise to isolated farmers and western ranchers.

Such an organization would insure romance and happiness to millions who now lead lonely lives.

A Home Office would be required with a few rooms and employees to classify and punch the cards for the elaborate card-index system.

Ultimately, an I.B.M. sorting machine would need to be rented for quickly sorting the cards.

Suppose a woman like Helen wanted to avail herself of the services of this Scientific Dating Bureau. She'd write for an application blank.

It would ask all sort of relevant questions about age, race, religion, education, politics, hobbies, etc. She'd fill it out, enclose a modest registration fee of maybe $5, plus a current picture of herself, a recent state of health, and names of three local references.

Immediately, a local field agent, preferably a local clergyman, Boy Scout Executive or other ethical person, would be asked to call on Helen for a brief personal interview. He'd also check with her three references to be sure she was eligible for the services of the Bureau.

Then he'd submit a short written report of his findings, which would be filed with Helen's original questionnaire. And he'd receive the $5 to reimburse him for the house call and report.

Then Helen would be given a key number, such as H-10,177, and offered the descriptions, under similar code numbers, of two or three suitable men within 300 miles range of her home town.

She could correspond with one of them via the Bureau's central office, which would transmit mail back and forth under code until such a time, as they both wished to meet personally.

He would then come to her city and the clergyman who was her local Field Agent would have them meet at his church for an introduction.

Then they would be on their own. And if they were attracted, they would know they were both certified eligibles with similar basic habits that stabilize marriages and keep them happy.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

The CIO Armed Revolt In America

Evidence piles up every day that the Congress of Industrial Organization under the leadership of Walter Reuther is out to seize complete power in America and establish a labor-fascist dictatorship.

Its methods are becoming clear as its strategy unfolds.

It is shortly scheduled to swallow the American Federation of Labor, under guise of a merger, that, as far as many well informed persons can see, will leave Reuther the bull of the woods, the kingpin, the supreme political boss; and at the same time possibly black out and nullify the many fine and worthwhile achievements of the Federation, that have earned the respect and confidence of employees and employers great and small, on the basis of craft unions skillfully managed and able to make money not only for themselves but for those who meet their payrolls.

Reuther today holds the Democratic party, nationally speaking, in the hollow of his hands; and this situation has prevailed ever since Franklin D. Roosevelt delivered his historic message at a Chicago convention, "Clear it with Sidney."

Everything nationally in the Democratic party, since then, has been "cleared with Sidney," and no candidate for the Democratic nomination for President—a once proud honor by a once great party—stands a ghost of a chance to win the nod without Reuther's specific endorsement.

The CIO has the national Democratic party as its captive and slave, like a galleyman chained to the oars; but its vaulting ambition encompasses Caesar-like shortcuts to power.

It is engaging in armed rebellion against the people and the government of the United States, and numerous States and communities; boldly and deliberately flaunting, challenging, insulting, ignoring, trampling upon and mocking and spitting upon the people and their right, daring even the National Guard in such battle-grounds as Indiana to prevent its mobsters and heavily armed goons, recruited from many states and districts, to preserve order and safeguard the lives of the people against its recruited insurrections.

It has fostered these terroristic enterprises for years, and due to the coward of authorities in heavily industrialized areas of the North and East, it has murdered and plundered and pillaged almost to its heart's content, and set itself up as a Fascist power superior to all law, all order, all human and constitutional rights.

Recently it invaded the South, and at such places as Gramercy in Louisiana beat up and maimed innocent pilgrims passing by a strike-bound sugar-plant; but due to fearless peace officers and indomitable district judges its reign of terror there was short-lived and the perpetrators languish in jail.

Yet in the Southern Bell Telephone Company strike, embracing a number of Southern states, saboteurs were active with guns and dynamite, blasting hundreds of installations, systematically destroying property and also taking or endangering human life; and at times vast mobs ganged illegally before telephone exchanges, forcing them to close and cripple vital services to the people—giving the South a good dosage of the goonism and fascist violence that has earmarked the CIO throughout its history.

At New Castle, Indiana, a small isolated manufacturing plant, producing a piston ring, has been struck by the CIO. It never employed more than 300 men, and many of these today are not in sympathy with the CIO-Reuther ordered strike. It is a foundry, the Perfect Circle Corporation.

Its members, if dissatisfied, had the right peaceably to strike; and, if satisfied, to remain at their jobs.

Yet a howling mob of CIO goons descended upon the plant, admittedly recruited not merely from the district but from several different states, and attempted to wreck it and destroy those who chose to work, in pursuance of their constitutional right; and in the resulting battle eight men were shot and wounded.

The CIO-minded governor of Indiana, out fishing off the coast of Florida, ordered the National Guard; but at the same time illegally ordered all work at the plant stopped. He is George N. Craig.

The arrogant, sneering CIO international representative William F. Caldwell told Mayor Paul F. McCormack of New Castle:

"I do not control, and admittedly so, the feelings of workers throughout Indiana and Kentucky, and throughout the United States . . . I cannot insure the actions of other people . . . Mr. McCormack, I could not assure what would happen . . . The outside sentiment if you reopen this plant may cause us all trouble. I can't govern it."

What this fat-jowled CIO labor boss said in effect was this: The CIO is a law to itself, and neither the State of Indiana nor the City of New Castle dare to let the Perfect Circle Corporation operate in pursuance to its legal and organic rights; and that any such attempt at legality will be crushed by the recruited CIO armies ganged together to overawe and intimidate the state and the city and the people.

Mr. Gerard J. Tobin of Brooklyn, criticizing an article I wrote on the Landy case, makes this point:

" . . . However, it is more likely that Landy is under a cloud, not for the conduct of his mother so much as for his association with her."

Precisely how would Mr. Tobin arrange this world so that a son does not have associations with his mother? Beethoven did not choose his alcoholic father any more than Abraham Lincoln chose his mother.

It is different with voluntary association. Five boys go to college; one joins a football team; another the Newman Society; another the Hillel club; another the debating team; another the Young Communist League. ANOTHER MRS. O'LEARY SETUP

By Angelo Patri

Mental Health

We are becoming very conscious of mental health in children these days — and it's a good thing too. But those two words often have a shade of sinister meaning to fathers and mothers. We have not yet lost our fear of disorders of the mind, and any suggestion of health care in that field still frightens some people. There need be no such dread. Caring for the mental health of children can be as simple as caring for the physical health. Maybe easier.

When a mother stops on her way through the house to pick up a small child, give him a hug and a kiss and say "You're a dear child and I love you," she has given that child a big lift toward sound mental health. Just to know day by day that he is loved is tonic to the mind and heart of any child, young and not so young.

When a boy or girl brings home a sad report card and feels simply defeated by it, his mind is depressed. This is the time for a word of sympathetic understanding, not of the low accomplishment but of the low feeling in the child's mind. That must be lifted from him. He must be helped to feel that he still has a chance to succeed and win approval. "Cheer up. You're not lost yet. You will do better this month. By and by we'll try to find what's wrong and mend it. We still like you a lot. Go wash up now. There's gingerbread with applesauce for dessert."

Assurance in time of trouble, assurance of affection no matter what happens, assurance of help, of faith and trust — these are preventive medicine that any parent can administer to insure a sound mental attitude in a child.

Acceptance is a powerful mental tonic. All fathers and mothers picture their children as very important people, successful and admired by all who meet them. Most children, like the rest of us, are ordinary and not likely to be star performers. Should parents try to drive a child beyond his power of accomplishment, show angry disappointment when he fails to reach their standard, they depress that child and lower his health and mind and body. When they accept him as he is, assure him that they are delighted with him as long as he does his best, he will rise to his full power and exceed himself. And he will be happy.

Happiness is one of the chief ingredients of sound mental health. A happy child is a good child, and a good child will develop his best self in an atmosphere of affection and approval surrounds him.

The establishment and preservation of mental health in children is just a matter of common sense. That need frighten nobody.

You should never tease a bashful child. Dr. Patri discusses why children are bashful and tells what to do about it in his leaflet P-9.

"Giant" (his last film) James Dean, who was killed while speeding is named Jet . . . Play the chune "Seventeen" and then "My Boy Flat-Top" and see if you can tell the difference . . . H. Toffel's line on a starlet: "A gal seen in more night clubs than movies" . . . They say the Sinatra-Brando feud is real — not puff-city . . . Fred Waring's "Hear! Hear!" (at the Ziegfeld) is music that stays in the heart . . . Migodness! How fat can you get? Jackie Gleason went through the menu at Cafe Chambord . . . "During the run of the movie, 'Oklahoma' at the Rivoli, the sale of popcorn will be banned." (Snobs).

Tab Hunter's quote: "I used to think acting was a bore." Now watcha think?

Marilyn Monroe recalling her youth: "One day I wore a sweater at school and everybody looked at me as if I had two heads." Ya mean they're NOT Heads?"

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Wealthy widows and widowers are often in more danger when seeking a second marriage for they may be the prey of gold diggers and fortune hunters. So a Scientific Dating Bureau would be their best protection. I'll guarantee suitable mates to the first ten who furnish the $100,000 necessary for this Bureau.

Case P-360: Helen R., aged 43, has been widowed for two years. "She is a very attractive woman," her attorney informed me at luncheon recently.

"And her husband left her over half a million dollars in government bonds and gilt edged securities."

"She is so lonely she is growing neurotic. Several fortune hunters have been trying to marry her, but I know they are primarily interested in her money."

"She is a lovely, cultured woman who would make a wonderful wife, but she hasn't found a suitable man."

"Dr. Crane, keep her in mind, won't you, when you get a letter from some professional man?"

What we need acutely in this country is a Scientific Dating Bureau, Incorporated not for profit, to help put eligible people in touch with desirable members of the opposite sex.

It would thus be a great boon not only to teen-agers but to school teachers, nurses, private secretaries, and all classes of fine men in the late twenties, thirties, and upward.

Furthermore, there are literally millions of widows and widowers whose lonely present life would be much happier if they were married again.

"But how can we find a mate?" is the heart cry of those millions.

Oh, they can find jobs, for we have scientific employment agencies to put worker and employer together.

We even have mail order firms to offer a wide range of merchandise to isolated farmers and western ranchers.

Such an organization would insure romance and happiness to millions who now lead lonely lives.

A Home Office would be required with a few rooms and employees to classify and punch the cards for the elaborate card-index system.

Ultimately, an I.B.M. sorting machine would need to be rented for quickly sorting the cards.

Suppose a woman like Helen wanted to avail herself of the services of this Scientific Dating Bureau. She'd write for an application blank.

It would ask all sort of relevant questions about age, race, religion, education, politics, hobbies, etc.

She'd fill it out, enclose a modest registration fee of maybe $5, plus a current picture of herself, a medical report attesting to her present state of health, and the names of three local references.

Immediately, a local field agent, preferably a local clergyman, Boy Scout Executive or other ethical person, would be asked to call on Helen for a brief personal interview. He'd also check with her three references to be sure she was eligible for the services of the Bureau.

Then he'd submit a short written report of his findings, which would be filed with Helen's original questionnaire. And he'd receive the $5 to reimburse him for the house call and report.

Then Helen would be given a key number, such as H-10,177, and offered the descriptions, under similar code numbers, of two or three suitable men within 300 miles range of her home town.

She could correspond with one of them via the Bureau's central office, which would transmit mail back and forth under code until such a time, as they both wished to meet personally.

He would then come to her city and the clergyman who was her local Field Agent, would have them meet at his church for an introduction.

Then they would be on their own. And if they were attracted, they would know they were both certified eligibles with similar basic habits that stabilize marriages and keep them happy.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Crisis Reported By Concordia School Board

VIDALIA, Oct. 7 (Special) —Decreased state school funds caused by a new equalization formula, and an increased school population is giving the Concordia parish school board financial headaches trying to balance the budget.

Hugh A. Bateman, of Ferriday, parish superintendent of education, said that he had been informed that about 33 parishes are experiencing the same difficulties. The problems were aired at a meeting of the Concordia parish school board here Wednesday.

The total anticipated receipts for the 1955-56 session plus a small balance from last year were estimated at $780,000. Estimated expenditures were shaved to meet that figure, but members were told that there is practically nothing remaining to meet the emergencies.

A ten per cent increase in the white school population this year has added greatly to the burden the schools are carrying. School materials and library supplies have had to be cut considerably. New teachers have been added and another new teacher is due at the Ferriday elementary school.

In line with the financial strain, board members voted not to pay $150 or half the expenses of Mrs. Johnnie Beasley, Ferriday teacher to attend the American Vocational Association meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., of which Mrs. Beasley is a state officer. The board also refused a request of the parish 4-H clubs for $300 to provide care for the stock to be shown at the state fair to be held in Shreveport.

John Osborne, Ferriday member, in opposing these requests said the primary purpose of the school system is to provide education for the children and that he was not in favor of spending money for "extras" when there would possibility not be enough to provide adequate teaching staffs.

Tuesday, January 3 an election will be held on the three mill special five - mill tax to run for ten years to help maintain the schools. On this date property owners will also vote on three mill special tax, which expires this year. If voted favorable the term of the new tax will run for ten years.

Members Of North Monroe Lions To Hold Bulb Sale

Members of the North Monroe Lions Club will embark on their annual light bulb sale Tuesday and Wednesday.

Bill Latham, president of the club, said that the sale is held each year to finance the civic and charitable activities of the club.

This year's budget, to be financed with proceeds of the light bulb sale, calls for $500 to be allocated to the Twin City baseball clinic. The club has agreed to aid in this endeavor not only financially, but also with member participation. Another big item to be financed by the light bulb sale is $300 to be distributed to the agencies who were former receiving members of the Community Chest.

A program of sight conservation, which has been sponsored by the club since its formation, will receive $250. The money is used to buy glasses for underprivileged children and a large number of children have received glasses through the club's fund, President Latham said.

Approximately $225 has been set aside to aid the Cerebral Palsy school at Selman Field. The North Monroe Lions only recently furnished the school with 20 cots. The Salvation Army Christmas Kettles have been allocated $250 along with furnishing playground equipment to a number of schools and sending a delegate to Boys' State in Baton Rouge each year.

Members of the club are also busy making toys to be distributed at Christmas time through the Goodfellows and the Salvation Army.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights club members will attempt to call at each home in Monroe to sell the light bulbs to finance their worthwhile program.

Corps program which is scheduled to begin initial operation in the state about December 1, spotter posts manned by volunteers will report to the Air Force low-flying planes against which radar is ineffective. Although Air Force teams are responsible for training, the bulk of the manpower in the GOC program is to be provided by volunteers.

LOUISIANA TECH's Forestry Club has selected Joan Morris (above) of Shreveport as the organization's representative in the contest for queen of the state forest festival to be conducted on Wednesday night, Oct. 12, in Winnfield. Miss Morris, a freshman majoring in business education at Tech, is a pledge of the Kappa Delta sorority. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. Hugh Morris of Shreveport.

Tickets To Valley Fair On Sale Sat.

Members of the West Monroe School band will sell tickets to the Ouachita Valley Fair on downtown streets of the Twin Cities all day Saturday, with part of the proceeds being earmarked for purchase of uniforms.

The band members will make an appearance at key points in the business sections of Monroe and West Monroe around 9 a. m. They are conducting the operation under the sponsorship of the West Monroe Christian Club, which is in charge of advance ticket sales, and will also handle sales at the gates when the exposition opens Monday in West Monroe.

Witness Describes Flood Destruction At Tampico

EDITOR'S NOTE: United Press Staff Correspondent Thomas MacCabe flew 216 miles from Harlingen, Tex. to flood-stricken Tampico, Mexico, Friday in an Air Force C-47 and returned in a C-46. This is his report.

By THOMAS MACCABE
HARLINGEN, Tex., Oct. 7 (UP)—The biggest air lift since the Berlin blockade Friday poured 58 tons of food, clothes and gasoline into Tampico, a once prosperous oil port that now seems to tilt crazily into filthy, snake-infested flood waters.

The supplies are carried by crew-cut angels of mercy in the uniforms of the U. S. Air Force, Army, Marines and Navy.

"Nobody is going to go hungry," promised Maj. Henry Gomez, the bilingual Fourth Army public information officer who coordinated the unloading and distribution of food at the Tampico airport.

The major supervised a bustling group of Mexican porters as he said the relief operation would continue into next week at least. He said it would be three weeks to a month before the storm-torn city could begin getting back on its feet.

The major supervised a bustling group of Mexican porters as he said the relief operation would continue into next week at least. He said it would be three weeks to a month before the storm-torn city could begin getting back on its feet.

Thousands of refugees from the city and inland floods appeared dazed as they waited for handouts of food, Gomez said there was "no problem at all" from the hungry population although "the children get a little rough at times."

"The children are actually acting like they enjoy it," he said. Youngsters could be seen playing and swimming in the dirty water.

Paradoxically, water was the biggest problem. Hundreds of bottles of pure water were flown in. But Gomez said it was not enough. The

Felonies Exceed Traffic Cases In District Court

Highway violations which usually outnumber the felonies in Fourth District Court every Friday took a back seat yesterday as Judge Jesse H. Heard meted out sentences covering burglary, theft and forgery, and attempted armed robbery.

Sentenced to five years in the Louisiana State penitentiary were James Franklin Tillman and Frank Greeley.

Tillman received a sentence on four counts of simple burglary. He also received a sentence on attempted armed robbery charges.

Greeley has to serve time on three charges of forgery. Ida Dawkins and Virginia Bailey, Negro maids in a local hotel were each sentenced to one year in jail for the theft of $530 cash taken from a hotel patron. Fined $300 and costs or 90 days for drunk driving were E. L. Wall, Guy Hufty, and Alton F. Bass. Thomas Bracy, was fined $75 and costs or 75 days for reckless driving. John Bowman, was fined $25 or 25 days for not having a driver's license.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Cotton

utures closed 40 cents to $1.35 a bale lower today, except nearby October, which was up $1.25 a bale. The October action reflected only a small open interest remaining in that trading month and was not indicative of the market as a whole. Nervousness over the size of the government cotton crop report coming up on Monday brought recurrent flurries of liquidation into futures, with losses at one time extending to $1.75 a bale.

Current crop deliveries rallied briskly in the final half-hour on trade buying and short covering. There was no lift to distant new crop months which closed at or near the bottom for the day. Foreign selling was again reported in later deliveries, evening up positions were extensive.

The average guess of 63 members of the New York Cotton Exchange placed the 1955 cotton crop at 13,455,000 bales. Some of the private forecasts ranged up to better than 14,000,000 bales, compared with government September report of 12,873,000 bales. There was only one October transferable notice issued at New York today.

New York futures opened sharply on general liquidation in sympathy with morning declines in Liverpool. Selling was in a fair quality on the opening but ran out by mid - morning and prices turned dull and became firmer to close the day with losses of from eight to 26 points in all months except October which was 25 points higher on the day. Trade houses were the main buyers again today. Clayton's brokers bought over 7,000 bales of December and sold 2,500 bales of March believed to be for New Orleans orders. Short covering continued in October as notices were light. One notice was issued in New York by Goodbody and was stopped by Clayton. Last notice day for October cotton is Thursday, October 13. As of last night's close, net open interest in October totaled 16,200 bales. There was some scattered liquidation and evening up in anticipation of government crop estimates Monday. The Exchange will close from 11:55 until 12:15 New York time with estimate being issued at 12 o'clock. Average guess of 63 members of New York exchange is 13,455,000 bales. Liverpool prices were easier under long liquidation and hedging. Prices closed with losses of from 42 to 85 pence except October which was up 12 pence points. At the Liverpool close with sterling at 278 3/4 the differences between Liverpool and New York were: October 244 points, December 84 under, March 198 under, May 158 under, and July 149 under.

Our Dallas office reports that low temperatures last night at Lubbock was 38 degrees with some frost reported in Plains area. Temperatures are expected in the mid - thirties tonight.

Gray goods market was quiet but continued firm this week as deliveries for this year are tight. Eighty squares of top make continue to sell at 20 cents in first hands for nearby delivery.

The New York exchange will be closed Columbus Day, October 12. Unfixed call sales for week end of September 30 increased 15,500 to 766,400 versus 1,795,400 a year ago. Unfixed call purchases declined 5600 to 92,500 against 122,400 last year.

Blue Chips Put Under Pressure As Week Closes

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Blue chip stocks ran into a phase of weakness today and sent the market down rather sharply.

The price erosion took place without uncovering much selling, although the tempo of trading quickened as prices slipped.

All major divisions were involved, but at the close some good plus signs remained in the air-crafts and other scattered areas.

Prices were down 1 to around 3 points at the outside. At one time losses had a top limit of 6 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $1.40 at $168.90. That is $1.20 under the close following the big break a week ago Monday, when the President was ill, and it is 40 cents under the August lows.

Both of these levels are considered testing points for the market. A decisive penetration of these average levels of prices would be considered bearish by many brokers.

Cotton New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 40 cents to $1.35 a bale lower today, except nearby October, which was up $1.25 a bale. The October action reflected only a small open interest remaining in that trading month and was not indicative of the market as a whole. Nervousness over the size of the government cotton crop report coming up on Monday brought recurrent surges of liquidation into futures, with losses at one time extending to $1.75 a bale. Current crop deliveries rallied briskly in the final half-hour on trade buying and short covering. There was no lift to distant new crop months which closed at or near the bottom for the day. Foreign selling was again reported in later deliveries. Evening up positions were extensive.

The average guess of 63 members of the New York Cotton Exchange placed the 1955 cotton crop at 13,455,000 bales. Some of the private forecasts ranged up to better than 14,000,000 bales, compared with government September report of 12,873,000 bales. There was only one October transferable notice issued at New York today.

Why Grow Old?

Apply Lipstick With Brush For Better Job

I do not understand why so few women, comparatively speaking, use a brush when applying lipstick.

This may seem difficult at first but after a little practice you can do a much neater and more accurate job with one. You can get a smoother outer line, and can also shape your mouth more accurately.

This is how you do it. Be sure that your lips are free from old make-up. They must also be dry. Follow the natural outside line of your mouth, using the brush. Fill in afterwards.

If your mouth has a puckered look, broaden and lengthen it a bit with the outline. If it is too long do not take the color all the way to the corners. If the lips are too thin push the line out a bit. If they are too full pull the line in. A very small variance from the natural outline can make a big difference.

After applying your lip rouge blot it with tissue. A light application of powder, left for a moment and then dampened with the tongue, will make the rouge look more natural and also will make it last longer.

Remember that the color of your lipstick and your nail polish must blend even if they do not match exactly. If one is a purplish shade and the other bright red they will clash. These also must be of the same family as your costume color. With these pointers in mind it is easy to see that a woman requires a lipstick and nail polish ensemble.

You will not need a large variety but must have some. In the first place, discover what your most flattering colors are. Then build your wardrobe about them and match your cosmetics to you. A woman of average coloring, neither extremely fair nor extremely brunette will probably need a clear red, one with a hint of blue, one which is pink and one with a touch of orange. When you use them depends on the color you are wearing and whether it is day or night.

Mayor Coon Gets 'Service Award' From Magazine

Monroe Mayor John E. Coon has been selected to receive the "distinguished service award", given each by the Louisiana Municipal Review magazine.

In a letter from the publisher, Claude Morgan, Mayor Coon was cited for outstanding leadership in developing and carrying through progressive programs for the city. Morgan in the letter said, "It is a great pleasure for me to advise that you have been selected to receive the 'Distinguished Service Award' for meritorious achievement to your community."

"You are one of the few mayors in the state to be so honored and I am sure the citizens of Monroe join the Review staff in offering congratulations to one of Louisiana's outstanding municipal officials."

This marked the first time a mayor of Monroe has received such an award.

Douglas Fowler Candidate For State Auditor

COUSHATTA, Oct. 7 (Special)—Douglas Fowler, 1952 candidate for state auditor on the Hale Boggs ticket and former mayor of Coushatta, formally announced Friday that he will be a candidate for state auditor in the forthcoming January primary.

Fowler was born at Martin, a small community in Red River parish, was graduated from Martin High School and attended Louisiana State University.

Fowler was employed in private industry for a number of years and later owned and operated his own business in Coushatta. In 1940, he was elected clerk of the tenth judicial district court for Red River parish, and served until 1952. In July, 1952, he was elected mayor of the town of Coushatta.

"Entering politics did not interfere with the keen interest that I have always had in civic and religious activities," Fowler said. "It has been my privilege to serve as president of the Coushatta Lion's Club, chairman of the United War Fund Drive, chairman of the infantile paralysis drive, chairman of the war bond drives, chairman of the American Red Cross, and chairman of civilian defense during the war years."

"I have been active in the Coushatta Methodist Church, having served as chairman of the board of stewards for eight years, and as superintendent of the Sunday school, also active and vigorous supporter of the Red River Parish Fair.

"Having been in public office for a number of years, I have always adhered to the belief that public office is a public trust, well as a tremendous responsibility, and on each occasion that the people have so honored me, I have made a conscientious effort to serve them to the best of my ability."

"And so it shall continue to be. I am elected to the post of state auditor. I shall at all times endeavor to carry out the duties and functions of this important post with honor, integrity and dignity, and pledge myself to work with all the other state officials that you might elect."

Oil And Gas News

Lamar Out-Step To Be Re-Tested; Wildcat Staked

Natural Gas Distributing Corp. filed application yesterday with the Monroe District office of the State of Louisiana Department of Conservation to go back into an old dry hole a half mile north of the initial gas discovery well in the Lamar field and re-test.

The old well, now styled Natural Gas Distributing Corp. J. H. Baker Estate B-1, is in Sec. 27-16-9E, Franklin parish, spotting 660 feet north and west of the southeast corner of the SE of the NE of the section. The abandoned hole, drilled several years ago by H. B. Brown, lies approximately two miles north of the nearest oil production in the Lamar field. The Tuscaloosa will be tested with R. C. Williams the contractor.

Another new wildcat application is for the Natural Gas Distributing Corp. Ayers Timber Co. Inc. D-1, located 660 feet south and west of the northeast corner of the NE of the SW of Sec. 6-13-10E, Tensas parish. This is about 1-2 miles southeast of the Killens Ferry field. Objective is the Paluxy with W. B. Fletcher contractor.

Three tests, one a wildcat, were reported plugged and abandoned yesterday. These are the Jett Drilling Co. Madison Oil and Development Co. B-1, wildcat, Sec. 10-6-8E, Concordia parish 6,811 feet; the Serio-Punches Oil Co. Jones-Fletcher-Swayze Unit No. 1, Sec. 12-7-6E, Wildsville field, Concordia 5,121; and the Allen J. Dykes Maxie No. 1, Sec. 31-17-8E, Big Creek field, Richland, 2,866.

Bond Issue Gains Added Support; Election Tuesday

The $5,200,000 parish school bond issue gathered further backing yesterday when some of the leading civic organizations of the Twin Cities endorsed the measure. The election will be held Tuesday.

Among those who have endorsed the issue are the Chamber of Commerce, West Monroe Kiwanis, West Monroe Lions, and the Ouachita Parish P-T. A. Council.

"No opposition to the issue has been shown as yet," W. W. Ward Supt. of parish schools said last night.

Expansion movements include: three new elementary school buildings; two junior high school facilities; athletic facilities for both Ouachita parish High and West Monroe high schools; four gym-auditorium combination plants; and repair and renovation of present facilities where needed over the entire system.

"The parish wide school bond issue will be expended over a normal five to ten year period; which means that an accelerated program of building will be engaged in initially only where the greatest need is evident," Ward stated.

Chamber of Commerce directors, before their endorsement yesterday, were told by parish school board officials that "plans are being made" for a junior high school on the southside of Monroe.

'Tony Draws A Horse'

Morehouse Little Theatre Stages Initial Production

By ANNIE LEE WEST STAHL
Guest Reviewer

BASTROP, La. Oct. 7—Opening night of "Tony Draws a Horse," first production of the Morehouse Little Theatre, proved a lavish excursion into the activities of a family dominated by a matron obsessed with social ambition and zest for ritual in her household. The curtain goes up at 8 p.m. Saturday on the second performance at Junior High auditorium.

Lesley Storm's uproarious comedy was a happy choice for the initial curtain call of the theatre in Bastrop. The playwright is constantly whacking away at your funny bone, and he does it with extravagance.

Guest Director Thom Feuerstein's casting provides a group of players who carry their parts with exhilarating relish to give a first rate performance. Feuerstein, currently on the Louisiana Tech drama faculty, continues to achieve technical triumph, a characteristic of plays which he offered during his affiliation with The Little Theatre of Monroe.

The slow movement which characterized the play's opening gradually took on momentum and the comedy maintained its fast pace for the rest of the performance.

Superb sets provided interesting and colorful background for a production that captivated its audience.

Out of the glitter of clever dialogue, Zola Evans plays the part of the dominating Mrs. Parsons with shining intelligence. She never flags in the desperate fight to carry her family to social heights along with her program of dominance.

She displays charm, chagrin, disgust and temper as she attempts to move her family about in a game of chess. The entire play revolves about Mrs. Parsons—whether it be a problem of her grandson Tony's realistic art, her younger daughter's marriage or the loss of her husband's trousers at a public meeting.

Though the youngster Tony never appears his realistic art is the crux of the household tragedy. It causes separation of his parents, stern opposition of his grandmother, and finally honor to the family.

Florence Gardial as Clare Fleming, the boy's mother, carries her role with fine interpretation. She does her best work in the scene where she decides to leave her husband and during a later part of the play at a cafe in France, where Clare and her sister's fiancé, played by Bill Abernathy, go to escape the atmosphere of the Parsons' house.

Ted Brodnax, the uncompromising husband, insists that Tony's future is doomed. He also has no sympathy with racing, always an interest of grandpa, whose part is carried well enough by Roland Bar-

TAKE A BREAK—Leading actors in Morehouse Little Theatre's initial production, Tony Draws a Horse, get out of character between acts of the performance in Bastrop's Central Junior High School. ry to make the audience happy at every appearance.

Enveloped in the maze of problems is Alfred Parsons, played by Paul Hamrick, who astonishes the audience by asserting himself for once in the presence of his arrogant wife. He sympathizes with his daughter Elise, played by Mary Nell Slomsky, who finally realizes that love can triumph.

Adding a pleasant phase to the comedy is the housekeeper, played convincingly by Marilyn Morgan. Other members of the cast who rounded out an evening of fun included: Sylvia Barnett, Donald Quinn, Ed Wright, Roy Swartz, Gladys Harrington, Alice Simmon, Dorothy Raye, Billy Ruth Johnson and Mrs. Warner.

Ransom Four-H Club Elects New Officers

The election of officers for the current school year was the highlight of the first meeting of the Ransom School 4-H Club.

The following were elected: president—Gail Hightower; vice-president—Danny Tolari; secretary—Peggy Conrad; and council member—Robert Barnes.

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, assistant home demonstration agent for Ouachita parish, introduced Aubrey Mopett, assistant county agent who will work with 4-H clubs in the parish for this year. Both agents explained details of the Ouachita Valley Fair which opens Monday and urged them to exhibit their projects at the fair.

Assisting at the meeting were local leaders Mrs. Tommie Lee, George Mills, Mrs. LaNette Fisher, and Mrs. Lillie Mae Shankman, as well as the principal, Clifford Roberts.

GRINDING DATE SET
NEW IBERIA—UP—Oct. 24th has been set as the tentative date for sugar cane grinding operations this year by the board of directors and members of the Iberia Sugar Cooperative. Officials said slow maturing of the cane this year was responsible for the unusually late date.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Northeast, S. L. I. Tangle In G. S. C. Battle Tonight

Indians, Bulldogs In Brown Stadium Battle At 8 P.M.

Gulf State Conference rivals with identical records — the Northeast Louisiana State Indians and the Bulldogs — collide at Brown Field here tonight. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

Coach Devone Payne's Redskins last week hit a winning stride in snapping a 12-game winning streak for the Delta State Teachers College, and S. L. I. got its lone win at the expense of East Texas State. Both suffered conference losses at the hands of Southeastern Louisiana. Northeast also fell to Stephen F. Austin, and S. L. I. bowed to Lamar Tech.

In action against their only mutual foe — Southeastern — Northeast took a season-opening lacing 40-0, and S. L. I. was defeated 20-0.

Southeastern enters tonight's fray as the favored team, but strength in reserves is probably the chief difference. The Bulldogs are reportedly weak at tackles, but that weakness may not be enough to show.

The Bulldog backs due to furnish the most trouble are Lewis Roth, Frank Goeren and Sid White, while Northeast will be leaning heavily on the versatility of Aubrey Wade, Tommy Leos, and Mack Powell with Wallace Hargon in the man-down-under slot.

Sammy Moore, veteran Northeast center, now recovered from a knee operation last spring, has been given the okay for play and may get his first action with the Tribe tonight. However, Benny Franklin, hurt in the Delta State game, may be absent.

Probable lineups:

S. L. I.

Ends — Herbert Fondren, Ronnie Crockett.

Tackles — Lou Drouant, Harold Miller.

Guards — Lindsey Dumond, Jim Herbert.

Center — James O'Connor.

Quarterback — Frank Goeren.

Northeast

Ends — Billy Laird, Joe Driskill.

Tackles — Sherrod McKoin, Francis Yocom.

Guards — Bob Windle, C. J. Melancon.

Center — Dalton Smith.

Quarterback — Wallace Hargon.

Halfbacks — Aubrey Wade, Tommy Leos.

Fullback — Mack Powell.

DADS' CLUB AIDS LIONS—The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, who have been used to traveling to football games in a school bus, yesterday were assigned a plush chartered commercial bus for their trip to Haynesville last night, compliments of the Ouachita Dads' Club. Ouachita Tumbles Before Haynesville Rivals, 37-12

HAYNESVILLE, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—The Haynesville High School Golden Tornado, capitalizing on fumbles that led to three touchdowns, defeated the Ouachita Parish High Lions of Monroe, 37-12, here tonight in a district triple-A conference game.

The game was four minutes old when Charles Wadlington plunged over from the two for Haynesville's opening wedge after the Tornado had marched 44 yards in five plays. Duane Crump kicked for the only conversion of the game.

A poor Ouachita punt, out of bounds on the Lion 40, set the stage for the second Tornado TD. Jere Bice going over from the four in eight plays.

On the first play of the second quarter an attempted Ouachita pitchout sailed free. David Hardin scooped up the ball for Haynesville and rammed 65 yards to score. Then the Lions fumbled the following kickoff with Haynesville recovering on Ouachita's 11. Four plays later Wadlington went over from the four.

In the third quarter Wadlington got away on a 46-yard run to the Lion eight and then carried the rest of the way. Minutes later Ouachita fumbled. Haynesville covering on the Tornado 49. On the very next play, Bice rammed through tackle for 51 yards and the final Tornado touchdown.

Ouachita scored its first touchdown five minutes deep in the last quarter after taking possession on the Haynesville 43. Paul Royce and Dickie Crowe alternated in carrying to the four, and Crowe plunged through.

The Haynesville's only fumble of the night was pounced on by the Lions on the Tornado 24. Four plays later Crowe fired a touchdown pass to John Tannehill from the 16.

Ouachita led in first downs, 15 to 9, but the Lions were hurt in losing five of their six fumbles.

OVA RAN OVER SOMEBODY—LARAMIE, Wyo., (AP)—Ova Stapleton, 173-pound junior fullback, is the surprise of the Wyoming football team. A third stringer last season he now is a regular, especially since he picked up 132 yards on 19 carries in the Pokes opening game against Kansas State. Ova is the brother of Clayton Stapleton, Wyoming line coach last year.

Unbeaten LaSalle Barely Gets Past Jonesboro-Hodge

OLLALA, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—The undefeated LaSalle High School Tigers turned Kenneth Winberry loose for three touchdowns here tonight to squeeze past the battling Jonesboro-Hodge High Tigers, 20-19.

Winberry tallied his first touchdown in the opening period from four yards out. In the second quarter he gathered in a punt and galloped 65 yards to paydirt, and in the final period he scored off tackle from the five.

Mike Gaines kicked the points for LaSalle.

Jonesboro-Hodge, trailing 13-0 at the half, caught LaSalle by surprise with a spread formation in the third quarter, and Jerry Shankles passed to Leon Whitten for the initial J-H touchdown.

The invading Tigers tried vainly for an upset in the final quarter with Shankles jarring LaSalle with two touchdowns runs. Shankles romped through the entire LaSalle team for his first touchdown and plunged from the five for the second, but LaSalle squeezed through by the margin of one conversion more than the visitors.

LaSalle's defense held Jonesboro-Hodge to 13 points and 156 yards in the first two periods, and Bill Loftin converted one.

Fair Park gained 331 yards rushing to 156 for Bastrop.

Wisner, Sparked By Shivor, Drops Farmerville, 12-6

WISNER, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—Roy Lee Shivor, Wisner fullback, thrilled partisan Bulldog fans with his fine running, classy defensive work, and stellar punting tonight as he led the Wisner High School eleven to a 12-6 triumph over the Farmerville High Farmers.

After a scoreless first quarter, Shivor went over from the Farmerville six for the opening touchdown of the game. Harold Stevens had set up the touchdown by scooping up a Farmerville fumble on the visitors' 30 and carrying it to the Farmers' six.

Farmerville took charge in the third quarter on the invaders' 35 and made four consecutive first downs in a drive to the Wisner five from where Levy Redden broke through to score, knotting the count at 6-6.

Farmerville was still going strong in the fourth period until W. L. Wilson, Wisner guard, intercepted a Farmerville pass on the Bulldog 45 and hustled it back to the Farmers' 40.

The Bulldogs, sensing a turn in the tide of battle, hammered their way to the Farmerville six from where Shivor crashed through to score the deciding touchdown.

Farmerville rolled up 12 first downs against six for Wisner. Shivor and Morgan led the Wisner backfield with Wilson and Chapman outstanding in the line. Redden, Tuten, and McCaskey were good in the Farmerville backfield with Hodges the standout of the forward wall.

Frank Wilson's 58-piece Farmerville band and 50-girl Farmerville squad entertained the crowd at the half.

Bastrop Crushed By Fair Park Foe To Tune Of 53-13

Mangham Whips Columbia, 33-14, In 'B' Scramble

COLUMBIA, Oct. 7 (Special)—Mangham High School, sparked by J. L. Hendrix, who scored three touchdowns, fought from behind in the last half tonight and then added steam to defeat Columbia High's Crimson Tide, 33-14, in a Class B district game.

The Tide took the initiative in the first quarter by surging out front 7-0 on a two-yard line buck by fullback Donald Thornton and by Robert Martin and a run for the PAT. But Mangham quickly retaliated on a 12-yard end run by Robert Martin and a run for the extra by Hendrix. This tied the count at 7-7 at the end of the first quarter.

In the scoring department, the second quarter began something like the first with Columbia's left end, Doyce McGuffey, taking a 12-yard pass in the end zone from quarterback A. D. Crockett, and Thornton collecting the PAT on a run. But Mangham again struck back its drive climaxing in a ten-yard touchdown rush by Hendrix. Columbia held a 14-13 half-time lead after a running attempt for the extra failed.

Hendrix continued to run rampant in the third period, breaking away for two short touchdowns gallops around end that clinched the game. Martin ran to collect one PAT.

Rebels Crush Marion, 40-0

By TED HECKATHORN

The West Monroe Rebels, led by the brilliant running of halfback Billy Hughes, the accurate passing of Robert Perkins, and the ferocious blocking and tackling of the entire line, rolled over the Marion Warriors of Lake Charles last night to celebrate their homecoming tilt at Brown Stadium, 40-0.

Hughes scored three touchdowns all by plunges, and had a 38-yard jaunt called back and voided by an offside penalty. Perkins passed 30 yards to end Rudy Ramsey for a six-point drive in the second period, and heaved another to end Bob Smith for ten yards with 20 seconds remaining.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Reb's Eugene Thrasher swept his right end for a 25-yard TD run on the first play of the second; and before halftime, his team had tallied twice more.

Richard Watson set up the second score with an intercepted Marion pass on his own 25. He ran it back to the 40, and the Blue and Gray drove the remaining distance, chalking up three of their 17 first downs in the process, with Hughes going over from the four.

Perkins hit Ramsey with his perfect toss for the third TD on the next-to-last play of the half.

With Johnny Marzula and Hughes bearing the brunt of the offense, the Rebels marched 71 yards to their first tally in the third, with Billy plunging over the last stripe from one yard out.

Recovering a Marion fumble on the first play after the ensuing kickoff, the Rebels scored in three plays, with Hughes again plunging over. His 27-yard run was longest key play in the short march.

The only score in the final period came after a 99-yard West Monroe sustained drive, with reserves Joe Ford and Mickey Bass, and a long run of 38 yards by Perkins eating up most of the yardage. The payoff came on the Perkins-to-Bob Smith aerial. The latter also turned in the key block of the evening in the drive, enabling Perkins to make possible his lengthy run.

Wayne Hendricks kicked the four West Monroe conversions from placement.

Northeast, S. L. I. Tangle In G. S. C. Battle Tonight

Indians, Bulldogs In Brown Stadium Battle At 8 P.M.

Gulf State Conference rivals with identical records — the Northeast Louisiana State Indians and the Bulldogs — collide at Brown Field here tonight. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

Coach Devone Payne's Redskins last week hit a winning stride in snapping a 12-game winning streak for the Delta State Teachers College, and S. L. I. got its lone win at the expense of East Texas State. Both suffered conference losses at the hands of Southeastern Louisiana. Northeast also fell to Stephen F. Austin, and S. L. I. bowed to Lamar Tech.

In action against their only mutual foe — Southeastern — Northeast took a season-opening lacing 40-0, and S. L. I. was defeated 20-0.

Southeastern enters tonight's fray as the favored team, but strength in reserves is probably the chief difference. The Bulldogs are reported weak at tackles, but that weakness may not be enough to show.

The Bulldog backs due to furnish Tribe most trouble are Lewis Roth, Frank Goeren and Sid White, while Northeast will be leaning heavily on the versatility of Aubrey Wade, Tommy Leos, and Mack Powell with Wallace Hargon in the man-down-under slot.

Sammy Moore, veteran Northeast center, now recovered from a knee operation last spring, has been given the okay for play and may get his first action with the Tribe tonight. However, Benny Franklin, hurt in the Delta State game, may be absent.

Probable lineups:

S. L. I.

Ends — Herbert Fondren, Ronnie Crockett.

Tackles — Lou Drouant, Harold Miller.

Guards — Lindsey Dumond, Jim Herbert.

Center — James O'Connor.

Quarterback — Frank Goeren.

Halfbacks — Marvin Leonard, Lewis Roth.

Fullback — Kim Borsall.

Northeast

Ends — Billy Laird, Joe Driskill.

Tackles — Sherrod McKoin, Francis Yocom.

Guards — Bob Windle, C. J. Melancon.

Center — Dalton Smith.

Quarterback — Wallace Hargon.

Ouachita Tumbles Before Haynesville Rivals, 37-12

HAYNESVILLE, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—The Haynesville High School Golden Tornado, capitalizing on fumbles that led to three touchdowns, defeated the Ouachita Parish High Lions of Monroe, 37-12, here tonight in a district triple-A conference game.

The game was four minutes old when Charles Wadlington plunged over from the two for Haynesville's opening wedge after the Tornado had marched 44 yards in five plays. Duane Crump kicked for the only conversion of the game.

A poor Ouachita punt, out of bounds on the Lion 40, set the stage for the second Tornado TD. Jere Bice going over from the four in eight plays.

On the first play of the second quarter an attempted Ouachita pitchout sailed free. David Hardin scooped up the ball for Haynesville and rammed 65 yards to score. Then the Lions fumbled the following kickoff with Haynesville recovering on Ouachita's 11. Four plays later Wadlington went over from the four.

In the third quarter Wadlington got away on a 46-yard run to the Lion eight and then carried the rest of the way. Minutes later Ouachita fumbled, Haynesville covering on the Tornado 49. On the very next play, Bice rammed through tackle for 51 yards and the final Tornado touchdown.

Ouachita scored its first touchdown five minutes deep in the last quarter after taking possession on the Haynesville 43. Paul Roys and Dickie Crowe alternated in carrying to the four, and Crowe plunged through.

The Haynesville's only fumble of the night was pounced on by the Lions on the Tornado 24. Four plays later Crowe fired a touchdown pass to John Tannehill from the 16.

Ouachita led in first downs, 15 to 9, but the Lions were hurt in losing five of their six fumbles.

OVA RAN OVER SOMEBODY

LARAMIE, Wyo., (AP)—Ova Stapleton, 173 - pound junior fullback, is the surprise of the Wyoming football team. A third stringer last season he now is a regular, especially since he picked up 132 yards on 19 carries in the Pokes opening game against Kansas State. Ova is the brother of Clayton Stapleton, Wyoming line coach last year.

Unbeaten LaSalle Barely Gets Past Jonesboro-Hodge

OLLALA, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—The undefeated LaSalle High School Tigers turned Kenneth Winberry loose for three touchdowns here tonight to squeeze past the battling Jonesboro-Hodge High Tigers, 20-19.

Winberry tallied his first touchdown in the opening period from four yards out. In the second quarter he gathered in a punt and galloped 65 yards to paydirt, and in the final period he scored off tackle from the five.

Mike Gaines kicked the points for LaSalle.

Jonesboro-Hodge, trailing 13-0 at the half, caught LaSalle by surprise with a spread formation in the third quarter, and Jerry Shankles passed to Leon Whitten for the initial J-H touchdown.

The invading Tigers tried vainly for an upset in the final quarter with Shankles jarring LaSalle with two touchdowns runs. Shankles romped through the entire LaSalle team for his first touchdown and plunged from the five for the second, but LaSalle squeezed through by the margin of one conversion more than the visitors.

Wisner, Sparked By Shivor, Drops Farmerville, 12-6

WISNER, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—Roy Lee Shivor, Wisner fullback, thrilled partisan Bulldog fans with his fine running, classy defensive work, and stellar punting tonight as he led the Wisner High School eleven to a 12-6 triumph over the Farmerville High Farmers.

After a scoreless first quarter, Shivor went over from the Farmerville six for the opening touchdown of the game. Harold Stevens had set up the touchdown by scooping up a Farmerville fumble on the visitors' 30 and carrying it to the Farmers' six.

Farmerville took charge in the third quarter on the invaders' 35 and made four consecutive first downs in a drive to the Wisner five from where Levy Redden broke through to score, knotting the count at 6-6.

Farmerville was still going strong in the fourth period until W. L. Wilson, Wisner guard, intercepted a Farmerville pass on the Bulldog 45 and hustled it back to the Farmers' 40.

The Bulldogs, sensing a turn in the tide of battle, hammered their way to the Farmerville six from where Shivor crashed through to score the deciding touchdown.

Farmerville rolled up 12 first downs against six for Wisner.

Shivor and Morgan led the Wisner backfield with Wilson and Chapman outstanding in the line. Redden, Tuten, and McCaskey were good in the Farmerville backfield with Hodges the standout of the forward wall.

Frank Wilson's 58 - piece Farmerville band and 50-girl Farmerville squad entertained the crowd at the half.

Bastrop Crushed By Fair Park Foe To Tune Of 53-13

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 7 (AP)—Don Mullins scored four touchdowns tonight to lead undefeated Fair Park to a 53-13 north district tripe-A victory over Bastrop.

Mullins scored twice in the first quarter, once in the second and once in the fourth, when he caught a 39-yard pass from Eddie Dunn. His runs were of six, 30 and 46 yards.

Dunn scored on a three-yard run, quarterback Jimmy Orton on a 38-yard run and Lud Bandaries on a 13-yard pass from Orton. Ray Sparks got five conversions.

Bastrop's Bob Loftin scored once in each of the first two periods, on runs of two and one yard. Bill Loftin converted once.

Fair Park gained 331 yards rushing to 156 for Bastrop.

Choudrant And Spearsville In Basketball Split

CHOUDRANT, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—The Choudrant High cagers divided a twinbill here Thursday night with the Spearsville boys and girls teams; the Choudrant boys winning, 39-33 in the nightcap; and the visiting girls taking the opener, 37-26.

Lowe, with 18 points, and Williams, with 11, led the Choudrant quintet; while Elkins and Calloway had 11 and nine respectively for the losers.

Dugdale, with 14, and Pessnell, with eight, were high for the Choudrant girls; and Boatright had 18, and Risinger 15 for the Spearsville winners.

Mangham Whips Columbia, 33-14, In 'B' Scramble

COLUMBIA, Oct. 7 (Special)—Mangham High School, sparked by J. L. Hendrix, who scored three touchdowns, fought from behind in the last half tonight and then added steam to defeat Columbia High's Crimson Tide, 33-14, in a Class B district game.

The Tide took the initiative in the first quarter by surging out front 7-0 on a two-yard line buck by fullback Donald Thornton and by Robert Martin and a run for the PAT. But Mangham quickly retaliated on a 12-yard end run by Robert Martin and a run for the extra by Hendrix. This tied the count at 7-7 at the end of the first quarter.

In the scoring department, the second quarter began something like the first with Columbia's left end, Doyce McGuffey, taking a 12-yard pass in the end zone from quarterback A. D. Crockett, and Thornton collecting the PAT on a run. But Mangham again struck back its drive climaxing in a ten-yard touchdown rush by Hendrix. Columbia held a 14-13 half-time lead after a running attempt for the extra failed.

Hendrix continued to run rampant in the third period, breaking away for two short touchdowns

Rebels Crush Marion, 40-0

By TED HECKATHORN

The West Monroe Rebels, led by the brilliant running of halfback Billy Hughes, the accurate passing of Robert Perkins, and the ferocious blocking and tackling of the entire line, rolled over the Marion Warriors of Lake Charles last night to celebrate their homecoming tilt at Brown Stadium, 40-0.

Hughes scored three touchdowns all by plunges, and had a 38-yard jaunt called back and voided by an offside penalty. Perkins passed 30 yards to end Rudy Ramsey for a six - pointer in the second period, and heaved another to end Bob Smith for ten yards with 20 seconds remaining.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Reb's Eugene Thrasher swept his right end for a 25-yard TD run on the first play of the second; and before halftime, his team had tallied twice more.

Richard Watson set up the second score with an intercepted Marion pass on his own 25. He ran it back to the 40, and the Blue and Gray drove the remaining distance, chalking up three of their 17 first downs in the process, with Hughes going over from the four. Perkins hit Ramsey with his perfect toss for the third TD on the next-to-last play of the half.

With Johnny Marzula and Hughes bearing the brunt of the offense, the Rebs marched 71 yards to their first tally in the third, with Billy plunging over the last stripe from one yard out.

Recovering a Marion fumble on the first play after the ensuing kickoff, the Rebels scored in three plays, with Hughes again plunging over. His 27-yard run was longest key play in the short march.

The only score in the final period came after a 99-yard West Monroe sustained drive, with reserves Joe Ford and Mickey Bass, and a long run of 38 yards by Perkins eating up most of the yardage. The payoff came on the Perkins-to-Bob Smith aerial. The latter also turned in the key block of the evening in the drive, enabling Perkins to make possible his lengthy run.

Wayne Hendricks kicked the four West Monroe conversions from placement.

Contest At Jena Not Played When Officials Absent

JENA, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—The Jena-Natchitoches double - A conference game, scheduled for tonight, was not played when officials slated to work the game failed to appear. No new date has been fixed for the contest.

When the officials failed to arrive, J. D. Brooks, Jena principal, telephoned Principal Simpson at Natchitoches. Simpson agreed to play Saturday if it was agreeable with his coach.

But Coach Prent Melder was opposed to playing Saturday, stating a preference for November 18, but Jena was not agreeable to this date.

Commissioner "Muddy" Waters of the state high school athletic association was telephoned at Hammond. He suggested a flip of a coin to decide when to play. Still the coaches couldn't agree, and Waters was called again. Waters, with the decision in his lap, said he would decide after a report from the district officials' association.

Istrouma Slugs Jesuit Bluejays By 40 To 0 Edge

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7 (AP)—Billy Cannon scored four touchdowns tonight in leading top-ranking Istrouma to a 40-0 triple-A football victory over Jesuit.

Cannon scored on the third play of the game by intercepting a Bugch Dastuge pass and returning it 37 yards. He scored on a 28-yard run the second time Istrouma got the ball.

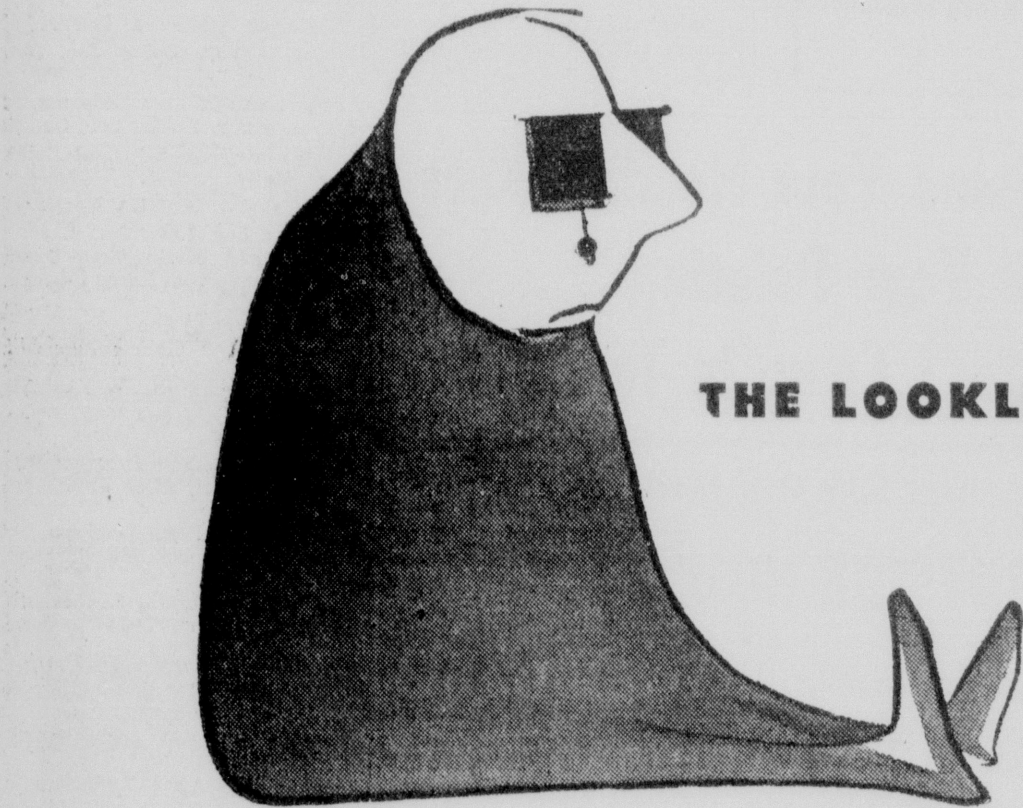

After Istrouma got a safety in the third period, Cannon took the kickoff and raced 57 yards. In the fourth period he took a lateral from quarterback B. L. Fairchild and scampered 36 yards to complete a 51-yard play in the final second.

George Guldry ran 45 yards and Fairchild intercepted a pass and returned it all the way for the other scores. Cannon got both Istrouma conversions.

Istrouma, top-ranked team in this week's Associated Press poll, got its safety when Norbert Roy tackled Jesuit's Jack Boasberg in the Jesuit end zone.

Engineers, Rebs, Maroons Collide With 'Sleepers'

By MERCER BAILEY
The Associated Press

Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Mississippi State knock heads with three Southeastern Conference "sleeper" football teams tomorrow while Auburn and Kentucky match brawn and talent in a battle of SEC giants.

Ole Miss, which won the title and went to the Sugar Bowl last season, hops up to Memphis for a night fight with Vanderbilt, which man-handled Alabama under the lights a week ago. Mississippi State is host to Tulane's not-so-green Greenies and Tech's fourth-ranked Yellow Jackets face up-minded Louisiana State in a night game at Baton Rouge.

All four of the games will have an important bearing on the SEC title campaign but the Auburn-Kentucky scrap in Birmingham is the No. 1 attraction. Both teams are rated prime championship contenders despite Kentucky's opening upset loss to LSU. Auburn, like Tech and LSU, stands 1-0 in SEC play. Kentucky, Mississippi, Mississippi State and Vandy have 1-1 records. Tulane stands 2-1 overall but has not yet met an SEC opponent.

The other four SEC teams tangle with non-conference foes. Alabama has the rugged job of trying to stop Texas Christian University, the Southwest Conference power which is rated No. 8 nationally. Tennessee, like Alabama, goes after its first victory of the season against visiting Chattanooga. Georgia is host to North Carolina and Florida meets George Washington in Jacksonville at night.

Ole Miss, Georgia, Auburn, Mississippi State and Tennessee have been established as touchdown favorites by the betting gentry. Tech is a two-touchdown favorite and Alabama is the underdog by the same margin. Florida gets a three-TD nod.

The Auburn-Kentucky headliner shapes up as a battle between Auburn's fine ground attack and the Wildcats' precision aerial game. Fullback Joe Childress and halfback Bob James give the Plainsmen a mighty one-two running punch. The Bob Hardy-to-Howard Schnellenberger combination is one of the most feared in the conference.

LSU, Vanderbilt and Tulane were relegated to the tail-end of the standings in pre-season rankings but all three have shown they are dangerous. Power is so well-balanced in the conference this year that almost any team can knock off any other on a given Saturday. After only two weeks of activity, for example, every team in the conference except Auburn and Georgia Tech had been beaten—and Tech and Auburn had had some uneasy moments.

Giants Ask Waivers On Sub Sid Gordon

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—The New York Giants today asked waivers on Sid Gordon, veteran utility player, for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

This move came just one day after the new Giant manager, Bill Rigney, signed his contract and revealed that he'll seek more youth on the Giant squad.

Gordon, who played for the Giants from 1941 to 1949 as an outfielder and infielder, was sent to Boston in the deal that brought Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky to the Polo Grounds. He moved to Milwaukee with the Braves and then was shipped to Pittsburgh before returning to the Giants last June.

Whitney's Entry Favored In Rich Belmont Futurity

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Fifteen 2-year-olds are entered for the big Futurity Stakes tomorrow at Belmont Park and if all start the winner will grab more than $100,000 for the second time in the history of the classic first run in 1888.

Racing fans were in a dither about picking a winner, who will get immediate attention as a top choice for the Kentucky Derby next May. However, the oddsmakers tabbed the C. V. Whitney pair of Career Boy and Head Man the probable favorite at 5-2.

The bulky field is an indication of how scrambled the 2-year-old division is at the moment, and if all 15 start the one getting his nose under the wire first will collect $100,425 from the gross pot of $125,125. In 1929 Harry Payne Whitney's Whichever took down $105,730.

Two days of heavy rain has left the track like Manhattan clam chowder for the six and one-half furlong sprint down the Widener straight course.

There is one filly against 14 colts and Eddie Arcaro picked her to win his fifth Futurity. She is Doubledogdare. A Claiborne farm miss who copped the $60,850 Matron Stakes at Belmont last week. Fillies don't usually tackle the Futurity, the last to win being C. V. Whitney's First Flight in 1946.

Career Boy, who'll be ridden by Eric Guerin, is a son of Phalanx-Swanky, and Swanky is a full sister of First Flight.

Others sure of getting heavy parimutuel support include Mrs. Anson Bigelow's Nail, the Maine p. m., CST.

Chance farm's Busher Fantasy, the Brookmeade stable's Lawless, the Elmendorf farm's Prince John, and Barclay stable's Polly's Jet. Rounding out the field are Mrs. C. Ulrick Bay's Noorsaga, Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Happy New Year, Robert Dienst's Decathlon, the Calumet farm's Fabius, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Call Me Lucky, Mrs. Lloyd P. Tate's Jean Baptiste, and R. A. Lewis' First Lap.

The race will have national TV and radio coverage (ABC) at 2:15 p. m., CST.

Oak Grove Nosed Out By Academy Eleven, 26 To 24

OAK GROVE, La., Oct. 7 (Special)—The Cuklin Academy Wildcats of Vicksburg, Miss., nosed out the Oak Grove High School Tigers in a football thriller here last night, 26 to 24, with the invaders using extra points to make the difference.

Bill Newton, taking a handoff from Russ Greer, dashed five yards for an Oak Grove touchdown to start the scoring in the first quarter, and Lawrence Baylot tied it up for Cuklin in the same period on a 15-yard sprint.

Oak Grove forced ahead again in the second quarter when Newton plunged three yards to score, and Carroll Head took a six-yard pass from Greer for the third Tiger touchdown. Carl Westcott rambled 30 yards for a Cuklin TD just before the half ended, and Glenn Griffin converted, but the Bengals led 18-13 at the rest period.

A pass, Griffin to Baylot, counted a Wildcat touchdown in the third quarter, and Griffin again converted, sending Cuklin ahead, 20-18.

Oak Grove forced ahead again in the last quarter when Jimmy Myrick romped 20 yards to pay dirt, but Carl Westcott of Cuklin matched Myrick's run to sew up the game for the visitors.

Cuklin made 13 first downs, and Oak Grove tallied 12. Cuklin completed five of six passes and had one intercepted. Oak Grove completed six of nine pitches.

Mississippi One Touchdown Pick Over Vanderbilt

MEMPHIS, Oct. 7 (AP)—Mississippi, the defending Southeastern Conference champion, is a one touchdown favorite to beat Vanderbilt tomorrow night.

A capacity crowd (25,000) was expected to jam Crump Stadium for this city's only major college football game this season. The weatherman promised ideal weather—cool and crisp with the temperature around 50. Kickoff is at 8 p.m. (CST).

The Rebels almost have to win this one if they expect to remain in contention for the successful defense of their SEC crown.

Mississippi has a 1-1 conference record, the same as Vanderbilt, and another loss would almost knock it out of the picture.

The Rebels are 14 points better than Vanderbilt on paper. They downed Georgia 26-13 and Georgia edged Vanderbilt 14-13.

Mississippi followed the Georgia game with a 21-14 loss to Kentucky, then sputtered over little North Texas State 33-0.

Vanderbilt bounced back from the Georgia loss for a 21-0 win over Alabama.

Miss Creed Captures Women's Golf Title

Closes Out Miss Sanches On 29th Hole For 8-7 Win

Clifford Ann Creed, 17-year-old Opelousas high school girl, yesterday became the youngest golfer ever to win the Louisiana Women's Amateur Golf Championship as she closed out Wanda Sanches, 24, Baton Rouge, the tournament medalist, on the 29th hole of their scheduled 36-hole finals match for an 8 and 7 triumph at Bayou DeStard Country Club.

Miss Creed, daughter of Cliff Creed, Opelousas golf professional, was behind only after losing the first hole of the match. She pulled even at three, went one up at six and never lost her grip as she steadily pulled away from Miss Sanches, who was tournament medalist with a 77 in qualifying play Monday.

Clifford Ann, who rejoins her senior class at Opelousas High School next week, enjoyed a six up lead at the end of the morning 18 in which she turned in a three-under-par 71 over Bayou DeStard's women's par 74 distance of 5,910 yards. Miss Sanches had a 77 in the morning, equalling her qualifying round.

At the afternoon turn of 27 holes, Miss Creed had picked up two more holes for an eight up lead. Miss Sanches prolonged the match by winning No. 28 with a birdie three, but she went one over as Miss Creed got a par on 29 to close out the match.

Miss Creed was one under par for the 29 holes with 118. Miss Sanches was seven over with 126.

Match play in the 27th annual tournament conducted by the Louisiana Women's State Golf Association began Tuesday with Miss Creed advancing over Fran Guthrie, Monroe; Sybil Griffin, Baton Rouge, and Mrs. Sam Israel Jr., New Orleans, the six-time former champion. Miss Sanches reached the finals by passing Mario Simmons, Bogalusa; Mrs. C. B. McMahon, Monroe and Mrs. Robert Monsted, New Orleans.

Engineers, Rebs, Maroons Collide With 'Sleepers'

By MERCER BAILEY
The Associated Press

Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Mississippi State knock heads with three Southeastern Conference "sleepers" football teams tomorrow while Auburn and Kentucky match brawn and talent in a battle of SEC giants.

Ole Miss, which won the title and went to the Sugar Bowl last season, hops up to Memphis for a night fight with Vanderbilt, which handled Alabama under the lights a week ago. Mississippi State is host to Tulane's not-so-green Greenies and Tech's fourth-ranked Yellow Jackets face upset-minded Louisiana State in a night game at Baton Rouge.

All four of the games will have an important bearing on the SEC title campaign but the Auburn-Kentucky scrap in Birmingham is the No. 1 attraction. Both teams are rated prime championship contenders despite Kentucky's opening upset loss to LSU. Auburn, like Tech and LSU, stands 1-0 in SEC play. Kentucky, Mississippi, Mississippi State and Vandy have 1-1 records. Tulane stands 2-1 overall but has not yet met an SEC opponent.

The other four SEC teams tangle with non-conference foes. Alabama has the rugged job of trying to stop Texas Christian University, the Southwest Conference power which is rated No. 8 nationally. Tennessee, like Alabama, goes after its first victory of the season against visiting Chattanooga, Georgia is host to North Carolina and Florida meets George Washington in Jacksonville at night.

Ole Miss, Georgia, Auburn, Mississippi State and Tennessee have been established as touchdown favorites by the betting gentry. Tech is a two-touchdown favorite and Alabama is the underdog by the same margin. Florida gets a three-TD nod.

The Auburn-Kentucky headliner shapes up as a battle between Auburn's fine ground attack and the Wildcats' precision aerial game. Fullback Joe Childress and halfback Fob James give the Plainsmen a mighty one-two running punch. The Bob Hardy-to-Howard Schnellenberger combination is one of the most feared in the conference.

LSU, Vanderbilt and Tulane were relegated to the tail-end of the standings in pre-season rankings but all three have shown they are dangerous. Power is so well-balanced in the conference this year that almost any team can knock off any other on a given Saturday. After only two weeks of activity, for example, every team in the conference except Auburn and Georgia Tech had been beaten—and Tech and Auburn had had some uneasy moments.

Giants Ask Waivers On Sub Sid Gordon

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—The New York Giants today asked waivers on Sid Gordon, veteran utility player, for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

This move came just one day after the new Giant manager, Bill Rigney, signed his contract and revealed that he'll seek more youth on the Giant squad.

Gordon, who played for the Giants from 1941 to 1949 as an outfielder and infielder, was sent to Boston in the deal that brought Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky to the Polo Grounds. He moved to Milwaukee with the Braves and then was shipped to Pittsburgh before returning to the Giants last June.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 7 (AP)—Jim Mangum of Shreveport, La., and Johnnie Pott, Brookhaven, Miss., moved into the lead of the Western Amateur Golf Tournament today with a 64-68-134.

Mangum and Pott were in a three-way tie after first round play yesterday with Jim Tom Blair, Jefferson City, Mo., and Pat Schwab, Bayton, Ohio, and Dale Morey of Indianapolis and Ray Terry, Jacksonville, Fla. The three teams finished with three-under-par 66s.

But in the second round the Blair-Schwab team skidded to 73 and 139 while Morey and Terry faded to 72 for 138. Blair-Schwab were in a three-way tie for fourth while Morey-Terry were in seventh place.

Still holding down second place were John Hare Jr., Indianapolis, and R. E. McCreary, Dallas, with 67-68-135.

The tournament at the Memphis Country Club course ends Sunday.

Showdown Games On Tap

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press
Four major college football conferences have showdown games scheduled today (Saturday) and the national rankings could undergo a thorough shaking-up, but the emphasis still is on the big intersectional games that provide a big part of football's early season pageantry.

Barring ties, which don't happen often in modern football, the Big Ten, Pacific Coast and Mountain States (Skyline) conferences will find one team alone at the top of the standings after the second Saturday of October and at least one of the current contenders will be shoved down in the Southeastern Conference.

A lot more could happen, of course, as the schedule raises such big questions as these:

Packers, Colts Bid For Division Lead In Battle Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Baltimore Colts and Green Bay Packers — of all teams — battle it out tonight for the Western Conference lead in the National Football League and that's just one indication of the goofy goings-on in pro football this season.

These two teams were the league doormats last year, but already this season both have knocked off the Detroit Lions, three-time Western Conference champions, and go into tonight's game tied with the Los Angeles Rams for the Western lead. Each team has won two games and lost none.

One big reason for the Colts' emergence is Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin's All-American fullback of last season, who is as great a standout as a rookie pro as he was in college. Tonight marks his first pro appearance in Wisconsin and some 40,000 fans, a record for Milwaukee, are expected to watch him.

Los Angeles visits Detroit Sunday for a game that's all-important to Coach Buddy Parker's Lions. If Detroit can't win this one, its chances of retaining its division title will be very slim. The injuries that hampered the Lions in the first two games are just about cleared up while the Rams have Tank Younger, Don Paul and Charley Toogood out with injuries.

The third western division game finds the Chicago Bears and San Francisco 49ers in the unfamiliar position of looking for their first victory in three games at Chicago.

The eastern division standing is just as surprising with the Washington Redskins up on top for the first time in years and Cleveland's league champions trailing after two games. Washington, which trounced Cleveland, then edged out the favored Philadelphia Eagles 31-30, seeks its third straight victory against the also surprising Chicago Cardinals.

Cleveland's Browns and Philadelphia, the pre-season favorites in the east, meet in Cleveland and the New York Giants go after their first victory in Pittsburgh.

Washington, the league's worst defensive club last season, has the best defense record so far this year. Philadelphia made too many mistakes in its first two games and can't afford to make more

Lake Providence Sinks Winnsboro In 19-12 Defeat

WINNSBORO, La., Oct. 7 (Special) — The undefeated Lake Providence High School Panthers, booming larger every day in the district Class A title race, spotted the Winnsboro Wildcats a 12-0 lead here tonight and then stormed back for all its points in the second quarter to defeat the 'Cats in a conference scrap, 19-12.

Winnsboro marched with the opening kickoff to the Panther 20 from where Billy Pirtle skirted left end for the first Wildcat touchdown. A few minutes later the 'Cats downed a Panther punt on their 22, and Chuck Gordy, on a cross-up, rambled 56 yards deep into Lake Providence territory. Two plays later Gordy crowded over from one foot out, and Winnsboro appeared ready to smear the Lake Providence winning streak.

But Harold Thomas lit the spark the Panthers needed when he took the kickoff behind the second Winnsboro touchdown and scored 89 yards for the Panthers' first TD. Robert Earle kicked the point.

Then a jump pass from Albert Surles to Earle on a play that covered 60 yards brought the Panthers the touchdown that sent them into a 13-12 lead. Just before the half ended, Surles got loose on a 32-yard run to set up a Harold Thomas touchdown dash from the Winnsboro nine.

Lake Providence tallied nine first downs in rushing for 135 yards and passing for 71. Winnsboro, with six firsts, rushed for 179 yards and passed for 18. The Panthers completed two of seven passes, had one intercepted. The Wildcats passed six times, completed one.

THREE NEW COACHES

PHILADELPHIA — Three National Football League teams have new coaches this year. They are Norman (Red) Strader with the San Francisco 49ers, Ray Richards with the Chicago Cardinals and Sid Gillman with the Los Angeles Rams. Holdover coaches are Wilbur Ewbank, Baltimore Colts; George Hales, Chicago Bears; Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns; Ray Parker, Detroit Lions; Lisle Blackbourn, Green Bay Packers; Jim Lee Howell, New York Giants; James Trimble, Philadelphia Eagles; Walter Kiesling, Pittsburgh Steelers; and Joe Kuharich, Washington Redskins.

Harvie Ward, a native of Tallahassee, N.C., is the first southern holler to win the National Amateur title since 1930 when Bob Jones scored.

against the Browns, especially now that Otto Graham is back in top passing form. The Giants still are suffering from a shortage of offensive ends, but Pittsburgh's Steelers lack reserve strength.

Senate Committee Blasts Wildlife Commission Acts

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 7 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee today sharply criticized the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission and a top official for a contract with a state representative.

The five-man group reported on its investigation of complaints against director L. D. Young of all major accusations but found fault with the commission and Ted O'Neill, director of the wildlife and refuge division.

The Senate committee, investigating the commission by direction of the Senate, objected to a contract for dredging given state Rep. John Jumonville of Iberville Parish without public bids.

The committee, headed by Sen. Clyde Caillouet, included Sens. Sens. Horace Wilkinson III, James Hinton, W. Davis Folkes and Elmore Bonin.

"Where a contract is entered into by an agency of the state under an emergency measure without first advertising for bids, the committee feels that it is particularly a matter of bad policy to enter into such a contract with a member of the Legislature," the report said.

And it labeled O'Neill "extremely negligent inasmuch as it was admitted that he did not do any shopping to determine what was the best price available under the circumstances."

"The committee feels strongly that in a few hours he could have contacted most of the contractors in Louisiana capable of doing that type work," the report added.

The five senators said they were "satisfied that each member of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission authorized the Jumonville contract, each stating that an emergency existed which would legalize the said contract without the necessity of first advertising for bids."

But the committee said a majority felt "that the emergency did not exist. The committee feels that the necessary delays in advertising would not have made enough difference to justify their hasty action."

The committee added that "it was definitely established that director L. D. Young did not agree to enter into the contract without first advertising for bids."

Young admitted permitting use of state-owned automobiles for private purposes, the report said.

But it added he had "assured the committee that action has been instituted to properly mark and identify the vehicles in his department and further that he had given strict instructions to all members of his family to refrain from using the state-owned vehicles for any purpose whatsoever. The committee feels confident that these promises are being carried out."

The Senate investigating group said it had established that neither Young nor his company "had submitted bids on any equipment since he took office as director."

Young was accused of supplying boats from his private business for use by the department.

Stanford, which upset Ohio State's Rose Bowl champs in California, isn't expected to do as well at East Lansing against a Michigan State team which came close to tumbling Michigan.

Meanwhile, Ohio's Buckeyes try for a comeback against an Illinois team which has gained more ground in two games than it did in five last season, Iowa plays Indiana and Minnesota visits Northwestern.

Southern California and Washington, each with two conference victories, come together at Seattle with USC a slight favorite. UCLA, the defending champion, played Oregon last night in its second conference game.

In the Skyline group its surprising Colorado A. and M. against Wyoming for the top spot while favored Utah makes its first conference start against Brigham Young.

Top-rated Georgia Tech, listed No. 4 in this week's national poll, encounters troublesome Louisiana State in the Southeast's big game, but the winner won't necessarily take the lead. Auburn, also with a 1-0 conference record, is favored to whip Kentucky.

Top-ranked Maryland, already past the most dangerous part of its schedule, figures to have a comparatively easy time against crippled Wake Forest in its Atlantic Coast Conference opener, but Duke should stay in front of the Terrapins by beating William and Mary for the first time. Oklahoma, the nation's No. 3 team, may get a hard scrap from Texas, but is favored to rack up its 22nd straight victory.

The East's big games involve the independent teams although the Ivy League has a full schedule. Pittsburgh and Navy clash at Baltimore in a game which should help decide the unofficial eastern championship and all-winning Colgate faces Holy Cross.

East — Columbia-Yale, Cornell-Harvard, Dartmouth-Brown, Princeton-Boston University-Syracuse, Villanova-Boston College.

South — Penn State-Virginia, VMI-West Virginia, Virginia Tech-Florida State (Night), George Washington-Florida, North Carolina-Georgia, Tulane-Mississippi State, Mississippi-Vanderbilt.

Southwest — Clemson-Rice, Alabama-Texas Christian, Arkansas-Baylor, West Texas-Arizona, Texas Tech-Texas Western.

Far West — Colorado-Oregon, Washington State-California, New Mexico-Utah State.

Stanford, which upset Ohio State's Rose Bowl champs in California, isn't expected to do as well at East Lansing against a Michigan State team which came close to tumbling Michigan.

Meanwhile, Ohio's Buckeyes try for a comeback against an Illinois team which has gained more ground in two games than it did in five last season, Iowa plays Indiana and Minnesota visits Northwestern.

Southern California and Washington, each with two conference victories, come together at Seattle with USC a slight favorite. UCLA, the defending champion, played Oregon last night in its second conference game.

In the Skyline group its surprising Colorado A. and M. against Wyoming for the top spot while favored Utah makes its first conference start against Brigham Young.

Top-rated Georgia Tech, listed No. 4 in this week's national poll, encounters troublesome Louisiana State in the Southeast's big game, but the winner won't necessarily take the lead. Auburn, also with a 1-0 conference record, is favored to whip Kentucky.

Top-ranked Maryland, already past the most dangerous part of its schedule, figures to have a comparatively easy time against crippled Wake Forest in its Atlantic Coast Conference opener, but Duke should stay in front of the Terrapins by beating William and Mary for the first time. Oklahoma, the nation's No. 3 team, may get a hard scrap from Texas, but is favored to rack up its 22nd straight victory.

The East's big games involve the independent teams although the Ivy League has a full schedule. Pittsburgh and Navy clash at Baltimore in a game which should help decide the unofficial eastern championship and all-winning Colgate faces Holy Cross.

Some of the other big games:

East — Columbia-Yale, Cornell-Harvard, Dartmouth-Brown, Princeton-Boston University-Syracuse, Villanova-Boston College.

Midwest — Texas A. and M.-Nebraska, Iowa State-Kansas, Kansas State-Marquette (Night), Wichita-Oklahoma A. and M., Xavier-Cincinnati.

South — Penn State-Virginia, VMI-West Virginia, Virginia Tech-Florida State (Night), George Washington-Florida, North Carolina-Georgia, Tulane-Mississippi State, Mississippi-Vanderbilt.

Southwest — Clemson-Rice, Alabama-Texas Christian, Arkansas-Baylor, West Texas-Arizona, Texas Tech-Texas Western.

Monroe Civitans Found Project Of National Scope

A project that has originated with the Monroe Civitan Club here bids fair to be accepted nationwide by Civitan Clubs as a substantial and humanitarian gesture.

It comprises the establishment by each Civitan Club of a blood bank so that in times of emergency any Civitan, his relatives or friends can be supplied with life-giving fluid.

Adopted as a plan by the local club, it has been approved by the West Monroe club and by clubs of this order in this district.

The idea is not in any way to conflict with blood banks already established by hospitals but to provide an extra source of supply when sudden need arises.

The Thursday night meeting of the Monroe Civitan Club was devoted to business but welcomed as guests at the session were two men who were charter members of the first Civitan Club here more than 20 years ago. They were David R. Kaplan and Roy Lee.

Members extended a cordial welcome to the two men. The club itself has plans for a wide distribution of these fruit cakes and money received will be placed in the fund to be used for worthy projects of the Twin Cities.

It was decided that Girl Scouts will on two Saturdays near holiday time, be in charge of sidewalk booths in front of Morgan and Lindsey's store where they will sell choice fruit cake and for which they will receive a percentage of the money received.

The club itself has plans for a wide distribution of these fruit cakes and money received will be placed in the fund to be used for worthy projects of the Twin Cities.

'Courthouse Gangs' Rapped By Carter

HARTSVILLE, S. C. (AP)—Mississippi editor Hodding Carter yesterday said the "public be damned" attitude of "politically entrenched courthouse gangs" imperils the freedom of local newspapers.

The editor and publisher of the Delta Democrat Times, Greenville, said news blackouts are prevalent on the national and world level as well.

Carter, speaking to the Coker College literary festival, accused "local vigilantes" of "extra-legal straight-jacketing."

The Pulitzer Prize-winning author said censorship blacks out exchange of information in two thirds of the world. Most newsmen in Washington, Carter added, are handicapped by a "studious attempt to keep information from the public." Carter called current censorship the most meaningful fact today to the publishing industry.
